ANUSHKA SHARMA'S FANS FORM PROTECTIVE CIRCLE AROUND HER AFTER VIRAT KOHLI'S RCB LOSES IPL MATCH, SHARE PICS OF HER CHEERING HIM ON

Actor Anushka Sharma was spotted cheering for husband, cricketer Virat Kohli, during Monday's Indian Premier League match between Royal Challengers Bangalore and Delhi Capitals. Anushka is currently posted in the UAE, where the ongoing season of the IPL is being played. Pictures from the match, which show Anushka in the stands, have been shared online. The images show the actor wearing a white dress. Her fans were protective of her, as Anushka has been needlessly dragged into conversations about Virat's form in the past. RCB lost the match. "NO NEGATIVITY AROUND HER TODAY PLEASE NO MATTER WHAT," one person wrote in a tweet. "Protect anushka sharma at any cost," wrote another. Earlier, Anushka had taken a firm stand against former cricketer Sunil Gavaskar's remarks against her. Gavaskar, commenting on Virat's form, had implied that he was out of practice because the only deliveries he'd faced during lockdown had been bowled by his wife.

DC SKIPPER IYER HAS FAITH IN HIS FEARLESS BUNCH OF BOYS TO GO PAST MUMBAI INDIANS

ABU DHABI: Delhi Capitals' skipper Shreyas Iyer is quite "chuffed" about the way his team bounced back from four consecutive losses to make the IPL playoffs and insists that the "fearless" bunch had what it took to upstage defending champions Mumbai Indians up next. Delhi Capitals earned a top-two finish with an easy six-wicket win over Royal Challengers Bangalore on Monday. They will take on the defending champions on Thursday for a place in the IPL title clash.

"Mumbai Indians is one of the best teams. Having said that, I feel we are also a fearless and amazing bunch of boys," Iyer said at the post-match press conference. "It really depends on the day. They are pretty experienced in such (finals) stages but the team has a good attitude and good composure on that given day is going to make it through," he added.

WHEN SHAH RUKH KHAN TOLD GANGSTER ABU SALEM 'I DON'T TELL YOU WHO TO SHOOT SO DON'T TELL ME WHICH FILM TO DO'

King of Bollywood Shah Rukh Khan, for more than 25 years, has stayed in the hearts of his fans. On his 55th birthday, here's a look at a time in Shah Rukh's career when he had to deal with threatening calls from gangsters Abu Salem and Chota Shakeel, among others. For the uninformed, in Anupama Chopra's book The King of Bollywood, she details how Shah Rukh had once reportedly told Abu Salem, who wanted the actor to work in a film by a producer, close to the gangster, "I don't tell you who to shoot so don't tell me which film to do." The book details that Shah Rukh started to receive phone calls when he was shooting for one of his superhit films Yash Chopra's Dil To Pagal hai with Madhuri Dixit and Karisma Kapoor. Reports state that the first call that the actor received from Salem, he asked, "Who's this?" The question prompted a spate of choice Hindi curses. Shah Rukh chose to keep it polite while conversing in English, situating himself and his caller in different worlds from the beginning. MOVIE REVIEW

A REVENGE RIDE

Guns, goons and glory... Season two of Mirzapur begins exactly where you left it. In case, you have forgotten the gory details who all we lost in the first season, it even recounts it all for you in a fast forward fashion. That Mirzapur 2 will once more be a battle for Mirzapur's gaddi and centre around Guddu Pandit's revenge is perhaps a fore-gone conclusion. But if you think Mirzapur is still a man's world, you couldn't be more wrong. Be it Beena (Rasika Dugal) who has learnt to play the game using men as pawns or Golu (Shweta Tripathi Pandit) who can now shoot without flinching, women get bloodier, nastier and far smarter than their male counterparts. They extract their pound of flesh literally and metaphorically. Even the new addition to the Mirzapur-scape, Madhvi Yadav (Isha Talwar) is no pushover. Of course, men have not lost their mean bone. Only the abominable Munna (Divyendu) begins to grow on you. Sure he is as vengeful and almost kills for pleasure too. Nevertheless, he charms with his snootiness and his chutzpah bordering on 'devil may care' attitude. Guddu Pandit's bravado too shows no signs of fading. Ali Fazal's character undergoes a transformation is more subdued, but far more effective. In fact, compelling performances hold the series that is as finely edited as ably directed. Even when you think the series is moving away from the main plot, unnecessary diversions by way of certain love angles, there is a purpose to these add-ons. The new entrants are not just tossed around for effect. Even Vijay Varma's dual role (Bharat and Shatrugan Tyagi) which you are tempted to dismiss as unnecessary, is not quite so. However, even more interesting than the twin act by Varma is that of the father played by Lilliput. As the badass Dada Tyagi of Bihar he makes his enemies squirm and bend before they enter his kingdom.

Of course, it's the father son duo Akhandanand "Kaleen bhaiya" Tripathi and Munna (enacted by Pankaj Tripathi and Divyendu) who steal the thunder. Tripathi with his restrained, well calibrated act is in top form. Just a twitch here, a quiver there, a slight hunch of the shoulders and he displays menace without even once raising his voice or gaali galauj. If you have a problem with the abusive language, the director, writer remind a lot more (than foul language) is wrong with our world. And say so through Munna who is rather peeved that in world full of greater depravities, all, his partner is concerned about is his lingo. Divyendu with his seemingly over the top act does not become a caricature at all. Rather his Munna catapults him into a new league. Rasika is competent. Ali Fazal this time around, les brawn and more brain even bit of heart is incredibly impressive and Shweta Tripathi despite the impassive look on her face conveys what she intends to. In one of the scenes she even gets to tell the man she is sleeping with, "tumhare hamare beech mein control hamesha hamare paas rahega." It's not just Golu who is control of her emotions. The director reins it all, keeping his viewers charged up, letting your adrenaline flow and takes you en route yet another thrilling ride. Slick and topped with raw appeal of hinterland. Besides, the makers may delude you into thinking Season 2 is a tamer version, take our word it gets as messy and bloody. The bad-lands are just as bad and good enough to nearly make you binge watch the ten episode series streaming on Amazon Prime Video. Rarely does a second season match the expectations and hype of the previous one. Mirzapur 2 does tie up all characters and subplots and ends satisfyingly all the while leaving a window nay a big wide door open for a third outing. And daresay we wouldn't mind yet another round of duel between the survivors of the second season.

FIR registered against Amitabh Bachchan, show makers for a question regarding Manusmriti, Dr BR Ambedkar Kaun Banega Crorepati (KBC 12) began its new season on September 29 and every episode of the show is infotainment at best. However, over the weekend the show got itself into a controversy over a question. The havoc was created after Amitabh Bachchan asked a question related to Manusmriti in the Karamveer episode. The episode saw social activist Bezwada Wilson and actor Anoop Soni came as guests. The question for Rs 6,40,000 was, On 25 December 1927, Dr. BR Ambedkar and his followers burned copies of which scripture? The options given were, a) Vishnu Purana, b) Bhagavad Gita, c) Rigdev, and d) Manusmriti. After answering the question, Amitabh Bachchan also said that "In 1927, Dr. BR Ambedkar condemned the ancient Hindu text Manusmriti to ideologically justify caste discrimination and untouchability and he also burned copies of it." However, the question did not go well with the netizens as several users started accusing the show of running the "leftists propaganda", while others blamed it for "hurting Hindu sentiments". An FIR was also lodged against Kaun Banega Crorepati (KBC) and its host Amitabh Bachchan in Lucknow. Filmmaker Vivek Agnihotri also shared a clip from the KBC show on the micro-blogging site Twitter and wrote, "KBC has been hijacked by Commies. Innocent kids, learn this is how culture wars are win. It's called coding." Meanwhile, another user wrote, "What the hell is this @SrBachchan ji?? If you dont love Mumbai the ask a question on some other dharma and them see the magic and diwali outside your house!! Each and everyone here is just a paid bot bc hinduism ki kisi ko padi hi nai hai! Shameless!"

'I was abused at 14', recalls Ira Khan; explains father Aamir Khan got her out of the situation

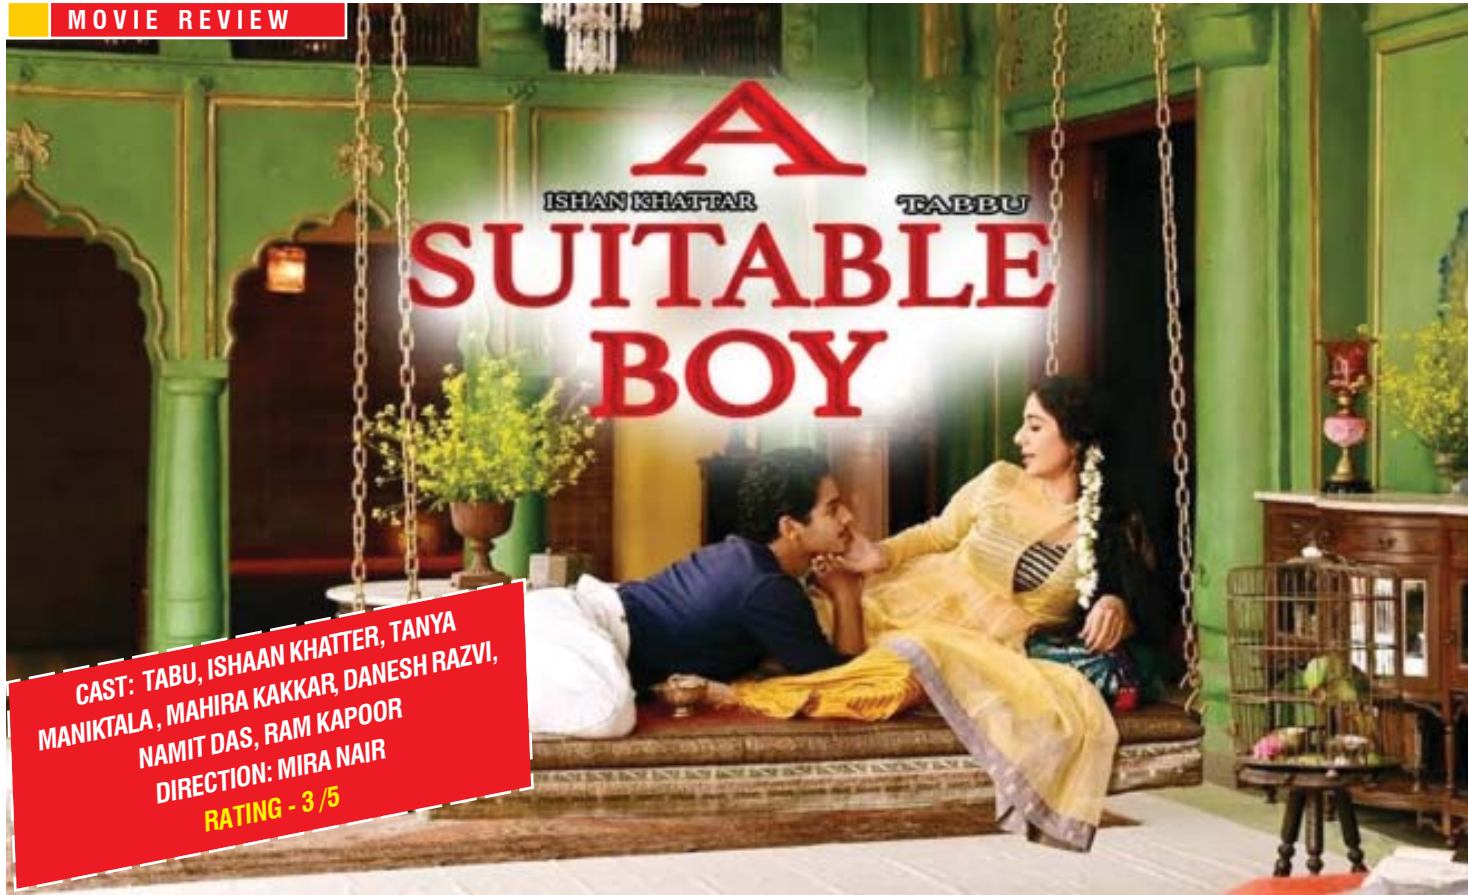

After sharing a video claiming she is clinically depressed, Aamir Khan's daughter Ira Khan has now opened up on the incident which triggered the emotion inside of her. She recalled being abused at the age of 14 and reaching out to her parents, Aamir Khan and Reena Dutta, for help soon after. Ira spoke about the abuse by someone she 'kind of knew'. "When I was 14, I was sexually abused. That was a slightly odd situation in the sense that I didn't know whether the person knew what they were doing. I sort of knew them. It wasn't happening every day. It took me about a year to be sure that they knew what they were doing," she was heard saying in the video. Khan then mentioned she got out of the situation by seeking help from her parents. "I immediately wrote my parents an email and got myself out of that situation. Once I was out of situation, I didn't feel bad anymore. I wasn't scared. I felt like this wasn't happening to me anymore, and it is over. I moved on and let go," she said. Ira had addressed the video to talk about the 'privilege' she spoke about while revealing that she was clinically depressed. She said, "I never spoke to anyone about anything because I assumed that my privilege meant I should handle my stuff on my own, or if there was something bigger, it would make people need a better answer than "I don't know." It made me feel like I needed a better answer and until I had that answer, my feelings weren't something I should bother anyone else with. No problem was big enough to ponder too long about. What would anyone do? I had everything. What would anyone say? I had said it all." In her video, Ira also spoke about her parents' divorce--Aamir and his ex-wife Reena Dutta-- and said that it did not scar her as many would assume. "When I was small, my parents got divorced. But that didn't seem like something that would traumatise me because my parents' divorce was amicable. They are friends, the whole family is still friends. We are not a broken family by any means," she said. Ira added in her video that even the amicable divorce was a privilege she had. "My parents were very good about being parents to Junaid and me, even after divorce. And when people would say 'Oh I am so sorry to hear about your parents' divorce, I would be like (shrugs) 'What are you talking about? It is not a bad thing. Another privilege I didn't realise. It could be something that could scar you. It didn't scar me. I don't remember most of it but I didn't feel like my parents' divorce is something that could bother me. So that can't be the reason why I am feeling so sad."

Kareena Kapoor Khan, who is about six months pregnant with her second child, on Friday took to her verified Instagram handle to share how thoroughly she is enjoying this special time. On her Instagram, Bebo shared a photo of herself getting a head massage from none other than her mother, yes-teryear actress Babita. In the photo, a happy and relaxed Kareena, who is seen dressed in a casual and comfortable printed white and turquoise kurta, is seen seated on a couch while her mom Babita is seen standing behind her, giving pregnant Kareena a calming head massage. Babita can be seen looking beautiful in a red and white striped shirt with a matching red hairband. Sharing the photograph, Kareena wrote alongside it, "Maa ke haath ka... maalish." Earlier, a couple of days ago, Kareena Kapoor Khan shared a boomerang video with sister Karisma and their makeup artist Pompy. The Kapoor sisters, who were shooting together for a brand, were being shot by ace photographer Rohan Shrestha at Kareena's balcony. On one hand, while both were seen wearing white tees in the boomerang video, on the other, for the shoot they were seen twinning in matching grey jackets. Even back in 2016, when the actor was pregnant with Taimur Ali Khan she was working even during her third trimester. Meanwhile, on the work front, Kareena Kapoor Khan will be next seen in 'Laal Singh Chaddha' alongside Aamir Khan. She recently returned to Mumbai after wrapping up the shooting of the film.

DRENCHED IN NOSTALGIA

Can the contemporary and yore exist in the same frame? Well, Mira Nair achieves the impossible. In her cinematic adaptation of Vikram Seth's tome A Suitable Boy, she takes you back to 1950s where the book and hence the series is based, yet brings out its contemporary relevance in the present world. Simultaneously, the underlying threads, especially the communal discord, pulsate, as do the beauty of Urdu language and the distilled wistfulness of an era gone by. The readers of the book may find the six-episode series a trifle dissatisfying. However, the lovers of cinema will actually be besotted by the visual and aural beauty. The richness of handlooms, the textures of those times, the timeless ghazals, it's a veritable feast out there. Equally fetching is the wide-eyed beauty Tanya Maniktala with her high voltage smile, as Lata. Tanya is fresh as a daisy, the quintessential beauty, epitomising the charm of bygone times. Her search for a suitable boy takes us not just from one suitor to another, from Brahmpur to Calcutta, but also from one dramatic moment to the next. The opening rushes make us believe it's yet another Hindu-Muslim love story. For, it's not just Lata who is in love with a Muslim boy, in the parallel thread there is the tale of this young man Maan Kapoor (Ishaan Khatter) besotted by a courtesan Saeeda Bai. With Tabu playing the enchantress Saeeda Bai, the woman whose admirers cut across generations, who wouldn't be enchanted? Pairing Ishaan Khatter with Tabu is both a brave and experimental choice. But the play off works well and despite the age gap, there is chemistry between the two consummate actors. Ishaan Khatter once again proves what a terrific actor he is. Actually in the series, streaming on Netflix, there is a deluge of the best that Indian film industry has to offer. There are so many of them with several like Randee Hooda, Vijay Raaz, Sheeba Chaddha appearing only fleetingly. Shahana Goswami as one of the series most spirited characters Meenakshi Chatterjee brings oomph and vitality to the storyline. The surfeit of known faces and names (Ram Kapoor, Namit Das, Vijay Varma, Rasika Dugal) does appear a bit distracting. But with fresh faces at the centre of the emotional tapestry, it's both a clever move and a balancing act. Thematic balance too is achieved, as the series veers between celebratory and tragic facets of life. If communal tension is woven into the leitmotif, so is harmony. Fissures between religious communities are offset by co-existence. Personal and political too are interwoven. Remember it's the Nehruvian era where politicians too had scruples. So Ram Kapoor as a revenue minister who brings the zamindari system down would not use his clout to save his son Maan. Yes certain twists like the relationship between Saeeda Bai and Tasneem are fairly predictable.

SHAHID KAPOOR-MIRA RAJPUT MAKE BLURRY LOOK BEAUTIFUL IN THIS SELFIE

Shahid Kapoor has resumed work and had kickstarted shooting for his upcoming film, Jersey in Uttarakhand. The actor seems to have not returned to Mumbai as he posted a 'missing you' post for his wife Mira Rajput. In the photo shared by Shahid, the couple is seen posing for a selfie and the click has come out blurry. But that did not stop him from sharing it with the fans who are in awe of Shahid and Mira. In the photo, Shahid is seen in a black T-Shirt while Mira opted for a white polka dot outfit. He captioned the post stating, "#imissyoo." Mira also commented on Shahid's post which read as "Aren't you glad I didn't put up the #imissyoutoo post." Shahid and Mira have been married for more than five years now. The couple is blessed with two kids - daughter Misha Kapoor born in 2016 and son Zain Kapoor whom they welcomed in 2018. Earlier during an interaction with Vogue, Mira revealed that Shahid promised her of renewing their vows. She said, "He's promised me we're going to do it again!" While Shahid shared his favourite moment from the wedding festivities stating, "The Anand Karaj ceremony was my favourite moment from the wedding. It was just a room full of our people, celebrating us, perfect strangers who were going to take this insane journey together.

Even though it's just been four years, a large part of who I am has been formed since the day we got married. We were relieved! The formalities were over, and we could now start sharing our lives."

AMITABH BACHCHAN'S 'NUMEROLOGICAL' TRIBUTE TO SEAN CONNERY LEAVES TWITTERATI 'CONFUSED'

In a unique way, megastar Amitabh Bachchan has paid tribute to the late Sean Connery. Sean Connery is best known for being the first actor to play British spy James Bond on screen. He passed away on Saturday at the age of 90. Trying his hand at numerology, Big B took to the microblogging website, and wrote: "T 3707 - What is the date today ..31 . 10 . 20 .. add up Rightwards arrow .. 3 + 1 is 4 .. then 1 = 5 .. then 2, so 4 + 1 + 2 = 7 .. then 0 ..so .. 3 + 1 + 1 + 2 = 7 .. and 2 zeros before you get there .. So .. 007 .. !! Sean Connery passes away .. he gave life to 007!!" However, this post did not seem to sit well with Twitterati. They deemed this post as "confusing and illogical". Several took to the comment section to share their confusion. Some noteworthy non-Bond films included director Alfred Hitchcock's "Marnie" (1964), "The Wind and the Lion" (1975) with Candice Bergen, director John Huston's "The Man Who Would be King" (1975) with Michael Caine, director Steven Spielberg's "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" (1989) and the Cold War tale "The Hunt for Red October" (1990).

Kangana Ranaut bashes YouTuber Dhruv Rathee for 'lying about BMC notice' in his video Kangana Ranaut has lashed out at YouTuber Dhruv Rathee after his video on her. In the video, Kangana claims that he 'lied' about the BMC notice in his video, while also alleging that he got paid Rs. 60 lakhs for doing so. "Of course this dimwit gets money to make fake videos I can get him behind bars for lying about BMC notice for my house in his video for which he got paid 60 lakhs, why will anyone lie openly about legal matters unless not given government support or money," she replied to a user who had an argument with the YouTuber on Twitter. The user in question had asked people to beware of a YouTuber who made an 'analytical video exposing role of SSR's family in his death'. 'ATTENTION: A major YouTuber with more than 4m subscribers has just been paid 65 lac Rs to make an analytical video "exposing role of SSR's family in his death". Deadline given to him is 1-2 weeks. The same YouTuber was earlier hired to target Kangana & Arnab,' wrote the user. Dhruv had replied to the same writing, "Lol, is this bullst fake news referring to me? First of all no one paid me any money to make Kangana video. Secondly, I'm not planning to make any video on SSR. And thirdly, I really wish my sponsoring fees was 30 Lakh per video, how rich would I be." The user hit back writing, "One: I've not named anyone. If you feel it's you, you're welcome. Two: About your fees & deals, @dhruv_rathee—I will definitely talk about it, but my focus is not that as of now. So wait for a while. Three: Am glad you dropped the vid, or not planning now. You answered it." Kangana had shared the tweet while sharing her side of the story. Reportedly, Dhruv alleged that the BMC had sent Kangana notice about the bungalow back in 2018. She has repeatedly claimed that the notice was not for her bungalow which was demolished. A case - Kangana vs BMC - is being fought in the Bombay High Court currently.

Rumours are rife that Kabir Singh actor Kiara Advani is dating Sidharth Malhotra for quite some time now but neither has ever confirmed the news despite getting clicked on numerous occasions together. Now, during an appearance on the Kapil Sharma Show while Kiara maintained that she would tell the world about her personal life only when she decides to get married, her co-star Akshay Kumar gave a huge hint to the alleged couple's fans. Akshay and Kiara arrived as guests on The Kapil Sharma Show to promote their film Laxmii. Host Kapil Sharma tried to ask Kiara about her boyfriend when she tried to swerve the question. "Whenever I talk about my personal life it will be when I'm married," to which Kapil said, "Let's clap for the guy who will get married to you. We can only send you good wishes for now." However, her Laxmii co-actor Akshay Kumar gave fans a glimpse into Kiara's personal life and chipped in saying, "Ye badi Siddhanto wali ladki hai (She is a girl with principles)." ORANGE CAP STAYS WITH KXIP'S KL RAHUL, DC'S RABADA GRABS PURPLE

Delhi Capitals pacer Kagiso Rabada and KL Rahul of Kings XI Punjab are currently leading the respective bowling and batting charts following the completion of 55 matches in the ongoing edition of the Indian Premier League (IPL). On Monday, Rabada scalped two wickets against Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB) during Delhi Capitals' six-wicket win which took his tournament tally to 25, thereby giving him the Purple Cap. He is followed by Mumbai Indians' Jasprit Bumrah (23 wickets in 13 matches) and Jofra Archer of Rajasthan Royals (20 wickets in 14 matches) in the list of leading wicket-takers. In the list of leading run-scorers, Rahul remains at the number one spot with 670 runs in 14 matches to lead the race for the Orange Cap. He will, however, not be able to add more runs as Kings XI have failed to qualify for the playoffs. Delhi Capitals opener Shikhar Dhawan is next in the list of leading run-scorers, having amassed 525 from 14 matches. RCB's Devdutt Padikkal completes the podium, having collected 472 runs in 14 games. Meanwhile, Mumbai Indians, Delhi Capitals and Royal Challengers Bangalore have qualified for the playoffs. The fourth and final spot will be decided on Tuesday evening following the final league stage match between SunRisers Hyderabad and table toppers Mumbai Indians. RCB's final spot on the points table will, however, be decided after Tuesday's match between SunRisers Hyderabad (SRH) and MI. If SRH, who are on 12 points, win, RCB will finish fourth. But if MI win, RCB will finish third and Kolkata Knight Riders will finish fourth. As for DC, Monday's win guarantees them two shots at entering the final, the first of which will be against Mumbai in Qualifier 1 on Thursday in Dubai. RCB have qualified for the Eliminator, to be played on Friday in Abu Dhabi.

'Ready for responsibility and challenge': KL Rahul on becoming Team India's vice-captain for Australia tour

The Kings XI Punjab (KXIP) wicketkeeper-batsman KL Rahul has been named as the vice-captain of India's limited-overs side in the absence of Rohit Sharma.

Indian selectors on Monday announced the squad for ODIs, T20Is, and Tests against Australia, and Rahul said he is confident to take the 'responsibility and challenge' as vice-captain.

Rahul got the reward of his ongoing performance in the Indian Premier League (IPL) as he has scored the highest runs in this season so far. He also led his side KXIP and under his captaincy, Punjab are currently placed at the fourth spot in the points table and are looking to get into the playoffs.

"It is a very happy and proud moment. I was not expecting it, but I am very happy. I am ready for responsibility and challenge and I will try to do my best for my team as much as I can," KXIP's official website quoted Rahul as saying.

In 12 games so far, Rahul has accumulated 595 runs with an average of 59.50 including a ton and five fifties.

"I am looking forward to the coming tour but the next 2-3 weeks before that are very important. The next 2-3 months will be very important. I am thinking about one day at a time, not much forward at the moment," he further added.

India ODI squad: Virat Kohli (Captain), Shikhar Dhawan, Mayank Agarwal, KL Rahul (vice-captain and wicket-keeper), Shreyas Iyer, Manish Pandey, Hardik Pandya, Sanju Samson (wicket-keeper), Ravindra Jadeja, Washington Sundar, Yuzvendra Chahal, Jasprit Bumrah, Mohd. Shami, Navdeep Saini, Deepak Chahar, Varun Chakravarthy.

India T20I squad: Virat Kohli (Captain), Shikhar Dhawan, Shubman Gill, KL Rahul (vice-captain & wicket-keeper), Shreyas Iyer, Manish Pandey, Hardik Pandya, Mayank Agarwal, Ravindra Jadeja, Yuzvendra Chahal, Kuldeep Yadav, Jasprit Bumrah, Mohd. Shami, Navdeep Saini, Shardul Thakur.

India Test squad: Virat Kohli (Captain), Mayank Agarwal, Prithvi Shaw, KL Rahul, Cheteshwar Pujara, Ajinkya Rahane (vice-captain), Hanuma Vihari, Shubman Gill, Wriddhiman Saha (wicket-keeper), Rishabh Pant (wicket-keeper), Jasprit Bumrah, Mohd. Shami, Umesh Yadav, Navdeep Saini, Kuldeep Yadav, Ravindra Jadeja, R. Ashwin, Mohd. Siraj.

India and Australia will play three ODIs, three T20Is, and four Tests against each other. The Test series will be a part of the World Test Championship.

India and Australia are currently at the number one and two spots respectively in the World Test Championship standings.

The last time India toured Australia, the Virat Kohli-led side managed to win their first Test series Down Under.

'WAS SHOCKED BEYOND WORDS': PV SINDHU'S 'RETIREMENT' GETS FANS CONFUSED

Indian shuttler PV Sindhu took the nation by storm after she posted 'I retire,' on her social media handles. The badminton star said that not being able to participate in the Denmark Open due to the coronavirus was the last straw. She wrote, "Denmark Open was the final straw. I retire" and while fans understood what it is about, some without reading the whole statement jumped to conclusions. PV Sindhu explained that she wants to retire from the 'current sense of unrest, negativity and constant fear'. She said, "Today, I choose to retire from this current sense of unrest. I retire from this negativity, the constant fear, uncertainty. I choose to retire from a complete lack of control over the unknown. Most importantly, I choose to retire from substandard hygiene stands and our lackadaisical attitude towards the virus. "We must not digress; we need to be better prepared. We must defeat this virus together. The choices we make today will define our future and the future of the next generation. We cannot afford to let them down." "I may have given you guys a mini-heart attack; unprecedented times requires unprecedented measures. I guess I needed to get you guys to sit up and take notice. That being said, we must be hopeful about the light shining at the end of the tunnel.

ROHIT SHARMA FACES D-DAY ON AUSTRALIA TOUR AVAILABILITY

Rohit Sharma's status has been very complicated in the last couple of days. The Mumbai Indians skipper has missed the last four games for the four-time champions in IPL 2020. Rohit Sharma has also been left out of the squads for the tour to Australia. However, the BCCI and Mumbai Indians created confusion with the franchise uploading a photo of Rohit Sharma practicing after being snubbed by the selectors for the tour to Australia starting on November 27. Thus, no one knew whether Rohit Sharma was out of the IPL or was still in it. There has been no clear call on Rohit Sharma's availability for the Australia tour even. Now, Rohit Sharma faces D-day. According to a report in ANI, Rohit Sharma will be assessed by the BCCI medical team on Sunday and it will be at that time when the final decision be taken on whether Rohit Sharma can tour Australia immediately after the IPL. Speaking to ANI, one BCCI medical official said, "Rohit will be assessed tomorrow and a call will be taken after that. As is the case with hamstring injuries, the real challenge is in the sprints, as well as the acceleration and deceleration process. That will help us understand whether Rohit has fully recovered or not." The BCCI medical officer stated that unless it was not a Grade 2 tear which is severe, the main focus would be on running between the wickets and not hitting the big shots.

"The hamstring muscles come into play when someone has to take a quick single. While you accelerate at the beginning of the run, you decelerate when you stop and turn for the other run. If you are fit, you will not have a problem," the officer said.

'Will continue to make our state and India proud': KL Rahul thanks Karnataka Government for Ekalavya Award

Indian cricketer KL Rahul was awarded by the Karnataka Government the Ekalavya Award. The Kings XI Punjab (KXIP) captain took to Twitter to thanks the government. He wrote, "Thank You Government of Karnataka for bestowing me with the Ekalavya Award. It would not be possible without the support of my coaches, teammates, friends and families. I will continue to work hard to make our state and India proud #grateful". The Mangalore native is still in United Arab Emirates (UAE) for the Indian Premier League (IPL) 2020 despite his side being out of the tournament. As for the Ekalavya Award, it is given by the Karnataka state government for outstanding performance in sports. Rahul's KXIP teammate and friend Mayank Agarwal has also been conferred with the award. Agarwal is a native from Bangalore. Veda Krishnamurthy, the Indian Women Cricket team's batting all-rounder, has also been conferred with the prestigious Ekalavya Award. Krishnamurthy has been one of the vital cogs of the Women in Blue and was honoured with the prestigious award for her immense contribution to both Karnataka and women's cricket. As for their performance at the IPL, Punjab is knocked out of the cash-rich tournament after failing to qualify for the playoffs. Chennai Super Kings (CSK) struck the blow to their campaign as they won by nine wickets. KXIP finished the season on the sixth spot, grabbing 12 points from 14 matches.

'EMOTIONAL' SHANE WATSON TELLS CSK TEAMMATES HE IS 'RETIRING FROM ALL FORMS OF CRICKET': REPORT

The 13th edition of the Indian Premier League (IPL) saw the Chennai Super Kings (CSK) become the first team to be out of the playoff race due to their poor performance. Now after their league games are over, veteran cricketer Shane Watson has reportedly said he is retiring from all forms of cricket. The opener announced his decision to his CSK teammates at the end of the team's journey in IPL 2020 on Sunday in Abu Dhabi. According to the Times of India, Watson, who got emotional told his teammates that he would be hanging his boots from all formats of the game. "Watson was very emotional when he told the CSK dressing room after the last game that he would retire. He said that it was a great privilege for him to play for the franchise," a source told TOI. The report also states that Watson might be added to the CSK support staff as the team looks to rebuild for the 2021 season. "He has always done very well against us, and Dhoni knows how important a player he could be if he is used properly at the top of the order" a CSK official had said. As for Watson, he had already retired from international cricket when the Chennai franchise had roped him in 2018. He had scored a century in the final to help the side lift their third title that season. Besides CSK, Watson also played for Rajasthan Royals (RR) and Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB). He even played a pivotal role to help RR win their maiden IPL title in 2008.

'When Shreyas Iyer, Virat Kohli make a deal': Netizens kickstart meme-fest after DC, RCB make it to Playoffs

Both Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB) and Delhi Capitals (DC) - teams that looked like finishing in the top 2 for the majority of the season - tasted 4 successive defeats but still made it to the Playoffs. Now reaching the peak of the tournament with the last group game scheduled tomorrow at Sharjah, tables will be turned with just a win. However, seeing both RCB and DC qualify has given rise to memes. As for tomorrow, it's Sunrisers Hyderabad (SRH) vs Mumbai Indians (MI). The contest that Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) will have a keen watch and desperately hope for a MI's victory. As for Hyderabad, its simple equation, as a win and they will be through to the playoffs (third place) for the fifth successive time.

DC's 6-wicket win does not stop RCB from qualifying to Playoffs

A not so high total, yet Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB) managed to take the game almost till the end but lost to Delhi Capitals (DC) by 6 wickets at Sheikh Zayed Stadium, Abu Dhabi making it to the Playoffs. The Delhi franchise seal the second spot with the victory and will meet Mumbai Indians (MI) in the Qualifier A for RCB, they are safe too, thanks to their net run-rate (NRR). RCB needed to make sure DC don't finish the game before 17.3 overs and they managed that making them the third team to qualify. The clash between MI and Sunrisers Hyderabad (SRH) will see who will be the last team to make it to the playoffs. As for the clash, Delhi Capitals won the toss and chose to field first. Young Devdutt Padikkal shone again with a half-century before the Capitals roared back to restrict the Royals to a mere 152 for seven.

MS Dhoni dismisses retirement rumors, says he will play for Chennai Super Kings in IPL 2021

It has finally come from the horse's mouth. MS Dhoni is NOT retiring from the IPL. It is confirmed. After Chennai Super Kings won the toss and chose to bowl against Kings XI Punjab at the Sheikh Zayed stadium in Abu Dhabi, former cricketer and commentator Danny Morrison asked MS Dhoni whether it was his last game. To this, MS Dhoni clearly said in just two words, "Definitely not." In IPL 2020, after every game, MS Dhoni has been giving away his jerseys to players and has been seen interacting with them on a regular basis. The handing out of jerseys made social media speculate that perhaps Dhoni was going to retire even from the IPL. Earlier, Chennai Super Kings CEO Kasi Viswanathan emphasized that MS Dhoni was going to be part of the Chennai Super Kings team for IPL 2021 and said that he would not retire after the end of this tournament. With this latest development, all retirement rumours can be put to rest as Chennai Super Kings aim to recover and rebuild the team for the next season which could begin in April 2021 provided that the coronavirus situation in India improves.
