WILL IMRAN KHAN GOVERNMENT SURVIVE?

The joint session of Pakistan Parliament was an opportunity for Prime Minister Imran Khan to prove his majority in Parliament, which he did. With the support of 221 votes of his party members and that of the allies, the government cruised through the session amid the Opposition's protest, Express Tribune reported. Despite the opposition lawmakers' speeches, urging the National Assembly Speaker Asad Qaiser to adjourn the session so that both the sides could sit together and deliberate upon the agenda items; their hue and cry; sloganeering; surrounding of Speaker's desk; tearing of the papers and heated arguments with him, the government moved ahead with the legislative business and passed 33 bills, the report said.

SONU SOOD SHOULD NOT JOIN POLITICS, CM FACE TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON: FORMER IG KUNWAR VIJAY PRATAP SINGH (AAP)

POOJA LUTHRA

Aam Aadmi Party senior member and Former Inspector General of Punjab Police, Kunwar Vijay Pratap Singh, in an exclusive interview with Y Media's Group Editor and CEO, Yudhvir Jaswal, said he does not want Sonu Sood to join politics. He stated that Sood is better at social services and should not enter politics. Former IG believed Sonu Sood meeting different parties' political leaders could confuse the voters and is not a good practice to study ideologies. "AAP is not curious about Sonu Sood joining their party," Former IG told Y Media. When asked once elected what AAP would do in Punjab, he said the party would resolve Punjab crises like gun violence or drugs, unlike Navjot Singh Sidhu or CM Charanjit Singh Channi. He further said AAP would ensure justice is served and not delayed or denied about SIT report. Former IG claims he is the change the Aam Aadmi Party needs in Punjab's Majha ahead of next year's Assembly election. He told Y Media AAP would win all 25 seats in the Majha area. He even informed that AAP's CM face would be announced soon.

I WILL FIGHT ELECTION FROM MOGA, DOESN'T MATTER WHETHER IT'S AGAINST SONU SOOD OR MALVIKA SOOD: MLA HARJOT KAMAL (CONGRESS)

POOJA LUTHRA

In an exclusive interview with Y Media's Group Editor and CEO, Yudhvir Jaswal, Congress' Moga MLA Harjot Kamal said he would contest Moga's election against Sonu Sood or his sister Malvika Sood. He said Sonu Sood does not have a clear stand as he could be seen meeting Delhi CM and Aam Aadmi Party supremo, Arvind Kejriwal, and Shiromani Akali Dal President, Sukhbir Singh Badal. MLA Harjot Kamal also said his contribution to Congress is immense. As a part of the democratic process, he said people have the right to decide who deserves to win. He thanked his supporters for his victory in the previous election and appealed for their support in the upcoming Assembly elections.

He was also glad that the Modi-led BJP government has repealed the three farm laws and said Congress would always work towards the welfare of farmers.

THRONE SPEECH: LIBERALS VOW TO ‘DELIVER RESULTS’, PROMISE TO END PANDEMIC, FIGHT CLIMATE CHANGE & REBUILD ECONOMY

“After 19 months of facing a once-in-a-century pandemic, Canadians chose to move forward this September. They gave Parliamentarians a clear direction to work together to put the COVID-19 crisis behind us and find the real solutions needed to build a better future for all Canadians. The Government of Canada has listened to Canadians, and we are ready to finish the fight against COVID-19, take strong climate action, make life more affordable, walk the shared path of reconciliation, put home ownership back in reach, create jobs, and grow the middle class.

“Building a better future starts with getting the pandemic under control and finishing the job on vaccines. Together, we’ve made progress. More than 86 per cent of eligible Canadians are fully vaccinated, and we have mandated that all federal and federally regulated workers, and everyone travelling within Canada by plane, train, or cruise ship be vaccinated. Just last week, Health Canada approved vaccines for children between the ages of five and 11, and the government is securing next generation COVID-19 vaccines and booster shots. If we continue to encourage all eligible Canadians to get their COVID-19 vaccines, we can build a healthier tomorrow and a stronger health care system. The government will better support all Canadians by taking action to clear the backlog of delayed procedures caused by COVID-19, strengthening long-term care, and improving access to mental health and addiction treatment. We will keep Canadians safe and healthy now and into the future.

“As we put the pandemic behind us, we need to rebuild an economy that truly works for everyone. To do that, the government will continue to put Canadians first and invest in their future. That means tackling the rising cost of living and taking action on housing affordability and child care. We’re going to help put home ownership back in reach for Canadians with a more flexible First-Time Home Buyer Incentive, a new rent-to-own program, and by reducing closing costs for first-time buyers. Supporting families will make life more affordable for the middle class and people working hard to join it. That’s why over the last few months, we’ve signed nine child care agreements with provinces and territories that will cut fees in half in the next year for most jurisdictions, build hundreds of thousands of new child care spaces across the country, and create an early learning and child care system that will cost, on average, $10-a-day for hard-working parents. The Government of Canada will get the job done on $10-a-day child care, and continue to make life better and more affordable for all Canadians.

“To create a more resilient economy, create jobs, and grow the middle class, Canada must take strong and bold climate action. That’s why we’re moving forward to cap and cut oil and gas sector emissions, investing in public transit, and mandating the sale of zero-emissions vehicles. We have the raw materials and skilled work force to produce the clean products that the world will need to cut pollution and create a green economy. The Government of Canada will continue to invest in our workers and industry to help bring us into the economy of the future, while also taking action to clean the air that we breathe and protect Canadians from extreme weather events. Together, we need to go further and move faster on climate action, not just to protect our environment, but to grow our economy in a way that leaves no worker behind.

“All Canadians deserve to feel safe in their communities, but gun violence is on the rise in Canada’s biggest cities. While we’ve already taken strong action on gun control, there’s still more to do. That’s why we will build on our progress and implement a mandatory buyback of assault-style weapons and work with the provinces and territories that want to ban handguns.

“The government will also continue to ensure that everyone is safe and has a shot at getting ahead regardless of their gender, who they love, where they come from, what language they speak, who they pray to, or the colour of their skin. We will continue to fight systemic racism, sexism, and discrimination in our communities, and promote the empowerment of Black and racialized Canadians, and Indigenous peoples. We will also stand-up for LGBTQ2 communities while completing the ban on conversion therapy, and we will protect and support our two official languages, both inside and outside of Quebec.

“But creating a more inclusive and equitable Canada can’t happen unless we move faster on our shared path of reconciliation. Canadians were horrified by the discovery of unmarked graves and burial sites located near former residential schools. As a country, and as a government, we must continue to tell the truths of these tragedies so we can right past wrongs and move forward in the spirit of reconciliation, for everyone. The Government of Canada will continue to support Indigenous peoples in these communities by investing in a distinction-based mental health and wellness strategy, and we will respond to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada’s Calls to Action and appoint a special interlocutor to further advance justice on the legacy of residential schools. The government will also accelerate work with Indigenous partners to address the national tragedy of Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women, Girls, and 2SLGBTQIA+ people, and we will ensure fair and equitable compensation for those harmed by the First Nations Child and Family Services program. Together, we will close the gaps that far too many First Nations, Inuit, and Métis communities still face today and build a better and more equitable future.

“Finally, the government recognizes that we live in a deeply connected world. The pandemic has shown us the importance of working with our global partners to tackle the challenges of today and tomorrow. From fighting the climate crisis to securing supply chains that create good middle class jobs, and standing up to reinforce international peace and security, Canada will continue to be a leader on the world stage.

“As we build back from the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic, Canadians expect Parliamentarians to work together and deliver on their priorities. The Government of Canada is committed to continuing to put Canadians first as we build a cleaner and healthier future. Together, we move Canada forward – for everyone.”

PAKISTAN MINISTER FAWAD CHAUDHRY SAYS MAJOR REASON BEHIND EXTREMISM IS SCHOOLS & COLLEGES, NOT MADRASSAS

NEW DELHI, (IANS) Pakistan Minister for Information and Broadcasting Fawad Chaudhry said that schools and colleges that are the major reason behind extremism and not madrassas, as is the popular belief, Geo News reported. “In the 90s, teachers were appointed to preach extremism,” the Information Minister said. Chaudhry said the state and government are “not fully prepared” to deal with extremism, adding that they had to “take a step back” while dealing with the Tehreek-e-Labbaik Pakistan (TLP), the report added. The Minister said the country faces “no danger from America or Europe”, but “the biggest danger is from within”. Chaudhry lamented that the menace of extremism is one that could isolate and destroy a country, and unfortunately, Pakistan “was pushed” towards it for political and foreign policy reasons, the Geo News report said. He noted that in case of a civil war, the state’s control would continue to diminish and “groups” will take over. Chaudhry said that to root out extremism, the narrative surrounding it would have to be changed. He said having an extremist point of view was not an issue, as people can have differing views - and no one could stop a person from thinking in such a manner. “But, such a person cannot be allowed to attack the government with Kalashnikovs, having a different point of view and imposing it on others are two different things.”

FARM LAWS REPEAL: MAJOR SUPPORT FOR MSP ACROSS THE BOARD

NEW DELHI, (IANS) For an urbane news consumer, the acronym MSP has suddenly become a common word, at least since November 19 when hours after the announcement by the Prime Minister to repeal the three contentious farm laws, the agitating farmers said that they will not stop till minimum support price (MSP) gets legal backing. MSP is the price that the government declares in advance and pays at the time of procurement of crops from the farmers at the Agricultural Produce Market Committees (APMCs), popular as Mandis. The concept is derived from the fact that the farmers should not suffer losses owing to lesser rates in the open market.

The demand by the agitating farmers is that the government should give a legal status to MSP - the three farm laws did not mention this - wherein even if it is a private trader purchasing from the farmer, the produce gets rates on par with MSP or above. Paying the farmer below the MSP would attract legal punishment.

The farmers under the aegis of Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) have been agitating for the repeal of the three laws - passed by the Parliament last year - and also demanding legalisation of MSP for all crops. Currently, the government provides MSP majorly to rice and wheat even though there are 21 other crops in the list.

An CVoter-IANS snap poll across India was conducted to find out what ordinary Indians think about the demand by farm leaders that the Parliament must pass a new law providing legal guarantee to MSP.

DELHI CM KEJRIWAL PROMISES RS 1,000 PER MONTH FOR WOMEN

CHANDIGARH, (IANS) Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Monday promised to transfer Rs 1,000 per month into the accounts of all women in Punjab, if Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) is voted to power in the 2022 Assembly polls. In addition, the elderly women will get a hike of Rs 1,000 in the monthly old-age pension.

Terming his Punjab counterpart Charanjit Channi, a “fake” Kejriwal, the Delhi Chief Minister said this was the world’s biggest women empowerment programme. “All women above 18 would get this benefit, which would go a long way in the economic uplift of women in society,” Kejriwal, who is on a two-day visit to the state, announced at a public meeting in Moga town. If a family has three female members, then each will get Rs 1,000 every month, he stated. About generating resources for this poll promise, the AAP national convener said money is not an issue for any government. “The AAP government, if elected to power in Punjab, would manage funds by snubbing all mafias, he said. Punjab has a bright future, Kejriwal said, provided that the state government has good intentions and the right approach to development. This time the women will decide the course of the 2022 Assembly election in Punjab. Without naming Channi, who is trying to replicate the policies and programmes of AAP, he said, “Beware of a nakli’ Kejriwal. Don’t go by his words. I keep all my promises made to the people.”

PRESIDENT RAM NATH KOVIND CONFERRED THE 2020 GALLANTRY AWARDS

President Ram Nath Kovind on Monday conferred the Gallantry awards, including two Kirti Chakras, one Vir Chakra and 10 Shaurya Chakras, for the year 2020.

Kovind, who is the Supreme Commander of the Armed Forces, conferred awards to the personnel for displaying conspicuous gallantry, indomitable courage and extreme devotion to duty.

The awards were conferred during Defence Investiture Ceremony held in Phase I in the morning and Phase II in the evening at the Rashtrapati Bhawan here, a communique from the Rashtrapati Bhavan said.

Of the two, one Kirti Chakra, and of the 10, two Shaurya Chakras were awarded posthumously. Apart from the Kirti Chakras, Vir Chakra and the Shaurya Chakras, the President also awarded 13 Param Vishisht Seva Medals, two Uttam Yudh Seva Medals and 24 Ati Vishisht Seva Medals, it said.

Y MEDIA POLITICAL SENSEX: C-VOTER SURVEY- FARM LAWS REPEAL

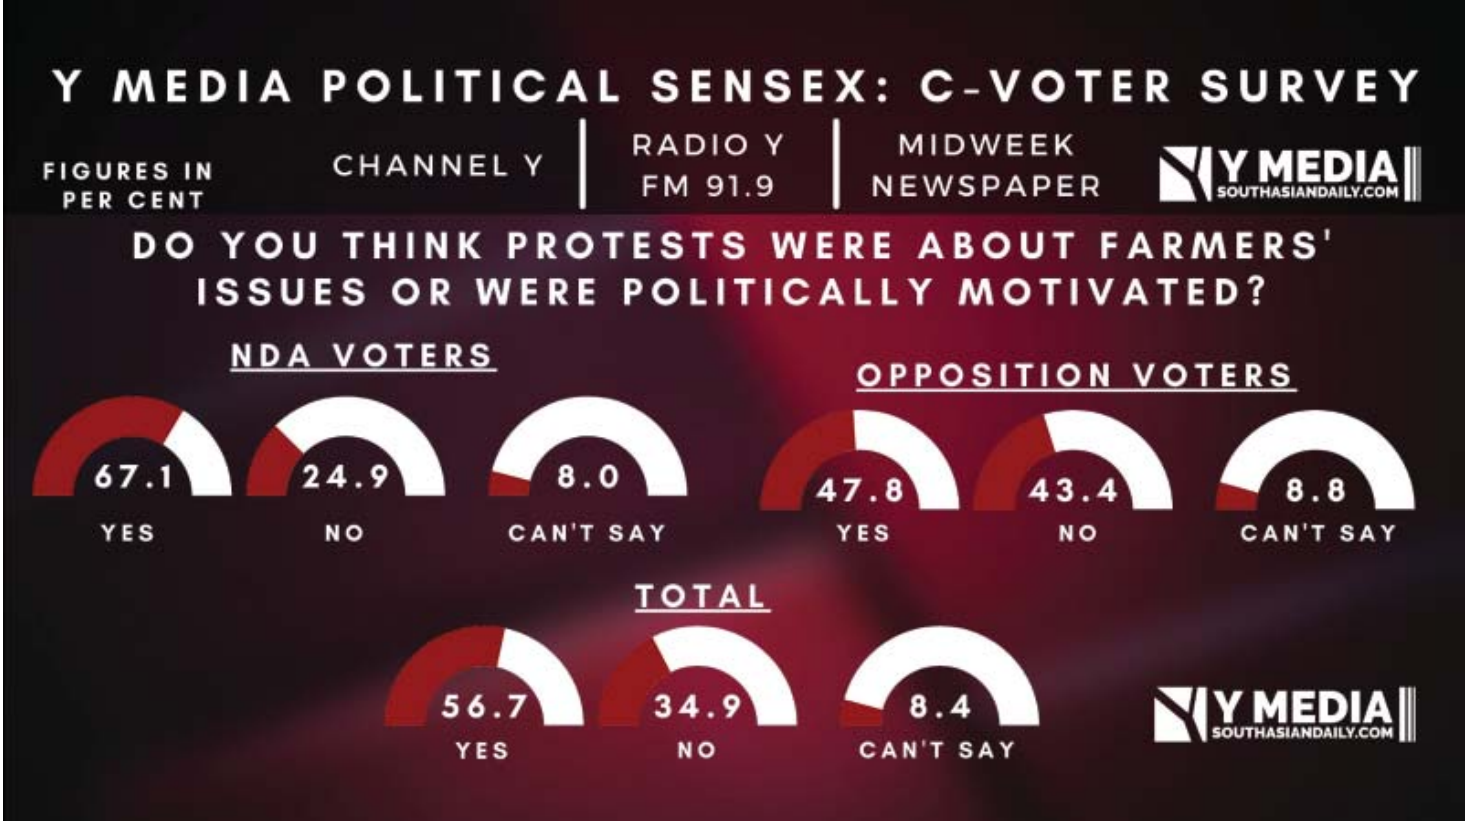

WILL PM MODI'S DECISION IMPACT THE 2022 ASSEMBLY ELECTIONS?

A clear majority of 55.1 per cent of the respondents were convinced there will be an impact on the elections, while just 30.8 per cent feel there will be no impact. Once again, there seemed to be a convergence in the views of NDA and opposition supporters. About 53 per cent of NDA voters felt there will be an impact on the polls, while more than 56 per cent of opposition voters felt the same. But the convergence ends here and polarisation is clearly revealed in responses to other questions asked in the IANS-CVoter Poll. When asked if Modi, like he did with the Land Acquisition Bill in 2015, succumbs to pressure when he is accused of being pro-business, 36.3 per cent of NDA supporters disagreed while 43 per cent said a thumping yes. When asked about who gets credit for the repeal, 47 per cent NDA voters suggested the Modi government while 36 per cent of opposition supporters disagreed. Everything is political in India. The controversial passage of farm laws in the Parliament and the subsequent repeal now is even more so. When asked about the motive behind the protests against the three farm laws that have been going on for about a year, more than 56 per cent respondents said that the protests were politically motivated. Interestingly, close to 48 per cent of opposition voters thought the same.

MAJORITY SAY PROTESTS ON FARM LAWS WERE POLITICALLY MOTIVATED

NEW DELHI, (IANS) Everything is political in India. The controversial passage of farm laws in Parliament and the subsequent repeal now is even more so. When asked about the motive behind the protests against the three farm laws that have been going on for about a year during a nationwide snap poll conducted by IANS-CVoter in the immediate aftermath of the repeal, more than 56 per cent respondents said that the protests were politically motivated. Interestingly, close to 48 per cent of opposition voters thought the same. More telling was the response to a question if the repeal of the three farm laws will have an impact on the Assembly elections that are due in early 2022. A clear majority of 55.1 per cent of the respondents were convinced there will be an impact on the polls, while just 30.8 per cent feel there will be no impact. FARMERS STIR A WATERSHED MOVEMENT: PUNJAB CM

LUDHIANA, (IANS) Punjab Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi on Monday said the farmers' agitation against three farm laws will be always remembered as a 'watershed movement' to protect the democratic and human rights in the country. The Chief Minister along with Punjab Congress chief Navjot Singh Sidhu handed over letters of appointment to five next of kin of farmers who died during the agitation. Channi said this movement has upheld the ethos of democratic values and human rights in the country. He said this agitation will ever inspire the countrymen to fight for their democratic and human rights while relentlessly waging a peaceful battle. The Punjab government is always with the food growers of the country, he said. The Chief Minister reiterated that instead of sitting idle, all Punjabis and, especially, the farmers have to remain vigilant until the draconian farm laws are repealed. He said fresh conspiracies are being hatched to harm the interests of the farmers besides derailing progress and prosperity of Punjab. Making a scathing attack on those leaders who are welcoming the announcement of Prime Minister to repeal the laws, Channi said these pseudo nationalist leaders are part and parcel of these anti-Punjab conspiracies. The Chief Minister questioned these leaders to explain the rationale behind merrymaking as there is hardly any reason to rejoice since Punjab had lost more than 700 sons and daughters during the struggle. He said those hailing the decision are supporting the atrocities meted out by the Union government to the agitating farmers, which was undesirable and unwarranted. Channi said it was shameful that for the sake of their vested political interests some political leaders are hell bent upon sacrificing the interests of the state, especially the farmers. The Chief Minister said that the announcement regarding repealing of black laws was baseless until and unless guarantee of minimum support price (MSP) for crops is not made. He said the Union government must ensure that each and every grain of the farmers is lifted on MSP so that the exploitation of farmers in hands of private players is avoided.

50% SAY FARM LAWS WERE BENEFICIAL FOR FARMERS

NEW DELHI, (IANS) According to pundits, one reason why Prime Minister Narendra Modi was compelled to repeal the three farm laws on November 19 was because they were widely unpopular. Apart from the usual conspiracy theories about Ambani-Adani grabbing the land of farmers, there were genuine worries about how farmers would fare when they deal in open markets. The year-long blockade of roads leading to and out of Delhi were also cited as reasons for the widespread unpopularity of the farm laws. Facts and data generated by an IANS-CVoter snap poll across India suggest otherwise. A clear majority of more than 50 per cent of the respondents were of the opinion that the farm laws were beneficial for the farmers. In contrast, just about 30 per cent feel they are not beneficial. The Prime Minister himself had stressed while repealing the farm laws on November 19 that his government wanted the small farmers to get the maximum benefits. There is further evidence of support for the farm laws. About 48 per cent of the respondents thought that the government must re-introduce the farm laws in the Parliament after consultations with all stakeholders and the necessary amendments. One doesn't know if the farm laws will be introduced again given the political climate, but the fact is that there is support for such a move. In any case, a whopping 56.7 per cent of the respondents were of the opinion that more than the actual details and fine print of the three farm laws, it was purely political motives that drove the protests.

MORE THAN HALF SAY MODI TOOK RIGHT DECISION BY REPEALING FARM LAWS

NEW DELHI, (IANS) Contrary to what pundits opined in the immediate aftermath, Prime Minister Narendra Modi's image and political capital does not seem to have been dented after he announced the repeal of all three farm laws on November 19. This was revealed by an IANS-CVoter snap opinion poll conducted across India hours after his announcement of the repeal. More than 52 per cent of the respondents said the Prime Minister had taken the right decision. This is to be expected since some analysts claim that the farm laws were bad to begin with and their repeal would surely be welcome. Actually, more than 50 per cent of the respondents asserted that the farm laws were beneficial for the farmers, while a considerably lower 30.6 per cent claimed they were not. The Modi regime can take comfort from another revelation in the poll. While 40.7 per cent of the respondents gave credit to the government for the repeal of the farm laws, just about 22.4 per cent gave credit to the opposition parties, while a healthy 37 per cent gave credit to the protesters. Perhaps the most important metric to emerge out of this poll is what ordinary Indians think about Modi's approach to farmers. A clear majority of 58.6 per cent of the respondents said that Modi was actually pro-farmer, while a comparatively meagre 29 per cent though he was anti-farmer. Even more interesting, more than 50 per cent of opposition voters think Modi is pro-farmer. Lastly, when respondents were asked about the real motives behind the lengthy and contentious agitation that led to the repeal of the farm laws, a big majority of 56.7 per cent were convinced the agitation was politically motivated with a plan to weaken the Modi-led NDA government. Just 35 per cent of the respondents had a contrary opinion.

FARM LAWS REPEAL: WHAT HAPPENS TO THE REFORMS PROCESS?

NEW DELHI, (IANS) The sudden announcement on Friday by the Prime Minister that the three contentious farm laws would be repealed has set the cat amongst the pigeons with academics and intelligentsia questioning the fate of reforms and the BJP denying there is no such precedent.

The IANS-CVoter snap opinion poll conducted across India hours after the announcement by the Prime Minister, says Modi's image and political capital does not seem to have been dented. More than 52 per cent of the respondents said he has taken the right decision. In response to another opinion whether or not the repeal of farm laws will encourage trade unions and their leaders to oppose changes to labour laws, close to 43 per cent of respondents seemed to agree, however, more than 25 per cent of the respondents could not express any definitive opinion, which means they are uncertain about labour reforms.

Farmer and professor at Madras Institute of Development Studies (MIDS), Prof S. Janakrajan termed it as a great victory for farmers and said, "The government did it only because it was clear that it is weak in western Uttar Pradesh. There are elections soon in Uttar Pradesh and Punjab and hence this was announced." Reminding that the farmers' agitation is not yet over, they are still agitating for minimum support price (MSP), "Government should seriously think about it. The farming community is in great pain. Almost 80-85 per cent of the farmers are small land holding farmers. If they are not assured MSP, they would resort to distress sale."

"These were the much needed reforms. Repeal of these laws is a politically bad step," said Dr G.V. Ramanjaneyulu of Centre for Sustainable Agriculture and said, the repeal of these laws may be likened to a precedent but would have wide ranging implications. "It will have an impact on other reforms, possibly now other laws for reforms would be stalled... electricity for farmers, seed bills related etc."

A senior BJP leader, who did not wish to be quoted, said, "They cannot be calling it a precedent setting decision! We do it only when needed. Didn't we allow the land acquisition bill to lapse?"

BJP leader Nalin Kohli, however, denied any such thing. "It (the announcement to repeal the three farm laws) is a statesman-like announcement made on the auspicious occasion of Guru Purub. Why would it be a precedent? There is no room to look at it from that perspective. That would be a misreading of the PM's statesmanlike approach," Kohli said.

The experts helped with the suggestions that the government can look forward to in order to reign in the chaos. Ramanjaneyulu, for instance, warned how few states would have serious problems unless the Centre resorts to rigorous change in the cropping pattern. "Some of the equity issues would remain unsolved if the reforms are not brought in. There are some states that receive huge subsidies and also witness massive procurement. There are destructive agricultural practices - such as excessive withdrawal of groundwater - that will never get corrected," he said, pointing towards the situation in Punjab and Haryana. Janakrajan suggested groundwater recharge as the priority amongst the hard steps to bring in reforms. Almost 70 per cent of India's irrigation is dependent on groundwater; he said adding, "If there is not enough recharge of aquifers, the agriculture economy will collapse. If farming becomes unviable, farmers will leave it (and then) how will you feed the 130 crore Indians?"

“ THERE ARE ELECTIONS SOON IN UTTAR PRADESH AND PUNJAB AND HENCE THIS WAS ANNOUNCED.” REMINDING THAT THE FARMERS' AGITATION IS NOT YET OVER, THEY ARE STILL AGITATING FOR MINIMUM SUPPORT PRICE (MSP), “GOVERNMENT SHOULD SERIOUSLY THINK ABOUT IT. THE FARMING COMMUNITY IS IN GREAT PAIN. ALMOST 80-85 PER CENT OF THE FARMERS ARE SMALL LAND HOLDING FARMERS. IF THEY ARE NOT ASSURED MSP, THEY WOULD RESORT TO DISTRESS SALE.” “THESE WERE THE MUCH NEEDED REFORMS. REPEAL OF THESE LAWS IS A POLITICALLY BAD STEP,” SAID DR G.V. RAMANJANEYULU OF CENTRE FOR SUSTAINABLE AGRICULTURE AND SAID, THE REPEAL OF THESE LAWS MAY BE LIKENED TO A PRECEDENT BUT WOULD HAVE WIDE RANGING IMPLICATIONS. “IT WILL HAVE AN IMPACT ON OTHER REFORMS, POSSIBLY NOW OTHER LAWS FOR REFORMS WOULD BE STALLED... ELECTRICITY FOR FARMERS, SEED BILLS RELATED ETC.” A SENIOR BJP LEADER, WHO DID NOT WISH TO BE QUOTED, SAID, “THEY CANNOT BE CALLING IT A PRECEDENT SETTING DECISION! WE DO IT ONLY WHEN NEEDED. DIDN'T WE ALLOW THE LAND ACQUISITION BILL TO LAPSE?” BJP LEADER NALIN KOHLI, HOWEVER, DENIED ANY SUCH THING. “IT (THE ANNOUNCEMENT TO REPEAL THE THREE FARM LAWS) IS A STATESMAN-LIKE ANNOUNCEMENT MADE ON THE AUSPICIOUS OCCASION OF GURU PURUB. WHY WOULD IT BE A PRECEDENT? THERE IS NO ROOM TO LOOK AT IT FROM THAT PERSPECTIVE. THAT WOULD BE A MISREADING OF THE PM'S STATESMANLIKE APPROACH,” KOHLI SAID.

REPEAL OF FARM LAWS - A BOLD MOVE

The Indian Prime Minister has always put the nation's unity and integrity above all other considerations, and perhaps therefore chose not to give any handle to vested interests, particularly Pakistan sponsored and funded elements, to create divisions and instability in Indian society, and especially among Sikhs.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi graciously accepted that perhaps there had been shortcomings in his government's attempts to explain the benefits of the farm laws, which would free farmers to sell their produce to whomever they wished, to the protesting sections of farmers. The farm laws, whose intention was to benefit the poorest and most vulnerable small farmers, who constitute the vast majority of the agrarian population, had faced severe opposition from some groups of larger farmers in Punjab and Western Uttar Pradesh. However, the Prime Minister, with commendable statesmanship, declared that he would not proceed with the laws in the face of such opposition, and would work towards building a consensus.

That the Prime Minister chose the occasion of Guru Nanak Gurburab to make the announcement is perhaps no coincidence, for he has long been a champion of the Sikh community, beginning with his days as a grassroots level political worker, to his three-time stint as Chief Minister of the state of Gujarat, and has continued to show the same compassion as the Prime Minister of the country.

It is this, together with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's focus on national security and unity, that, more than anything, have been responsible for the sudden decision. The move has been attributed to electoral considerations because of the upcoming polls in the states of Punjab and Uttar Pradesh, however, a deeper reading will reveal this to be a very superficial interpretation. The protests were already dissipating, and in any case, had little resonance outside certain areas of Punjab and Western Uttar Pradesh.

Electoral reverses are neither permanent nor all-important, but the integrity of the nation and the fraternity of the people are.

PM TRUDEAU, US & MEXICO PRESIDENTS TACKLE IMMIGRATION, SUPPLY CHAIN AT NORTH AMERICA LEADERS' SUMMIT

While in Washington, the Prime Minister participated in the North American Leaders' Summit with the President of the United States of America, Joe Biden, and the President of Mexico, Andrés Manuel López Obrador. At the Summit, the leaders spoke about shared priorities, including finishing the fight against COVID-19, getting the job done on vaccines, taking strong climate action, and building an economic recovery that creates new jobs and middle class growth. They agreed to work together to strengthen medical supply chains and advocate for increased global vaccine distribution, support a North American transition to zero-emission vehicles, conserve 30 per cent of North American land and waters by 2030, and increase opportunities for legal pathways for migrants to enter our respective countries.

The Prime Minister met with President Biden separately to discuss progress made on the Roadmap for a Renewed Canada-U.S. Partnership, agreed to by the two leaders in February. During the meeting, the leaders committed to enhancing supply chain security by setting up a Canada-U.S. supply chain working group. In addition, they also announced the establishment of an Indo-Pacific strategic dialogue to coordinate shared priorities. Finally, they agreed to develop a renewed vision for joint management of the border applying lessons learned from the pandemic. Canada and the U.S. also announced their intent to begin negotiations toward a science, technology, and innovation agreement to position Canada and the U.S. as leaders in the digital economy.

Prime Minister Trudeau also met with President López Obrador. The two leaders reaffirmed the strong relationship between Canada and Mexico, which is built on strong trade and investment relations, as well as shared values and close people-to-people ties. They underscored the importance of the economic relationship between our two countries, and discussed the importance of an integrated North American economy, and of the Canada-United States-Mexico Agreement. Finally, they discussed the commonality of our shared identity as nations with rich Indigenous heritage and committed to exploring additional opportunities to cooperate in advancing on the path of Truth and Reconciliation.

During his visit to Washington, the Prime Minister also met with the Vice President of the United States, Kamala Harris, to discuss a range of issues of mutual interest, including bilateral cooperation on democracy and human rights, and a range of global challenges. In addition, he also met with U.S. congressional leaders to discuss our close economic relationship, and how we can work together to better secure supply chains and increase trade opportunities.

To build back a better Canada from the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic, we need to work with our North American partners. Only together, can we finish the fight against this virus, take strong climate action, create new jobs and middle class growth, and tackle the many challenges of today and tomorrow.

PM Trudeau said, "Strengthening our partnership with the United States and Mexico will create new opportunities for economic growth for our people and ensure North America remains the most competitive region in the world. Together we will finish the fight against COVID-19, get the job done on vaccines, tackle the climate crisis, create new middle class jobs, and build an economic recovery that works for everyone."

COVID-19 VACCINES AVAILABLE FOR PEEL'S YOUNGEST SUPERHEROES

Peel Region is excited to inform residents they can start booking appointments for children aged five to 11 years.

Residents must use the provincial booking system to book their appointments. Appointments will be loaded into the system on Tuesday and Wednesday, starting on Friday, November 26 in Peel's public clinics and continuing to January 9. More appointments will be made available regularly, so residents are encouraged to check frequently.

Please note that walk-ins for children aged five to 11 will not be available.

Clinics will remain open until 8:30 pm. This will allow residents to book an after-school appointment and still get their little heroes to bed on time.

Every clinic will be able to administer vaccine to children aged five to 11, and consideration will be given to ensure the clinic environment makes children and families feel safe and comfortable.

As vaccine supply quickly expands across Peel, more than 62,000 total doses will be available for children at all Peel locations, including fixed clinics, school clinics, pharmacies, primary care and community clinics between November 26 and January 9, 2022.

In addition, the vaccine system across Peel is expanding with more than 180,000 doses available for residents eligible for booster and third doses, and those seeking their first or second dose.

Preparing your children for vaccination can spark concerns and questions for parents, care givers and children themselves. Peel has resources to help navigate these feelings. Check our website peelregion.ca/coronavirus for more information or follow us on @regionofpeel on social media. "As a parent of children in this age group myself, I am thankful that we can finally offer protection to our youngest superheroes of this pandemic. Protecting our children with vaccine is about increasing confidence; confidence that their individual risk of rare but severe outcomes is greatly diminished, confidence that in person learning can be maintained, and confidence in ensuring that gatherings with family and friends are just a little bit safer. Each child that access protection for themselves also helps us draw closer to making this disease less novel for all of us. I could not be prouder and I thank them for being true heroes," Dr. Lawrence Loh, Medical Officer of Health, Region of Peel said. The Region of Peel works with residents and partners to create a healthy, safe and connected Community for Life for approximately 1.5 million people and over 175,000 businesses in the cities of Brampton and Mississauga and the Town of Caledon. Peel's services touch the lives of residents every day. For more information about the Region of Peel, explore peelregion.ca and follow us on Twitter @regionofpeel and Instagram @peelregion.ca.

2 CHARGED WITH DRUG AND FIREARM RELATED OFFENCES IN PEEL

Investigators from the 21 Division Criminal Investigation Bureau have arrested and charged two people with drug and firearm related offences. On Thursday, November 18, 2021, officers from the 21 Division Criminal Investigation Bureau and Tactical Unit executed a search warrant at a residence on Goreway Drive in the City of Mississauga.

As a result, a loaded Kahr Arms P40 handgun and a quantity of drugs was located and seized.

Arsalan Syed, a 29-year-old man from Mississauga, is charged with the following offences:

- * Unauthorized Possession of a Firearm
- * Knowledge of Unauthorized Firearm in Motor Vehicle
- * Possession of Loaded Prohibited or Restricted Firearm
- * Possession of Firearm with Altered Serial Number
- * Possession for the Purpose of Trafficking

Reshma Harrypaul, a 32-year-old female from Mississauga, is charged with the following offences:

- * Unauthorized Possession of a Firearm
- * Possession of Loaded Prohibited or Restricted Firearm
- * Possession of Firearm with Altered Serial Number
- * Possession for the Purpose of Trafficking

Arsalan Syed was held for a bail hearing and attended the Ontario Court of Justice in Brampton. Reshma Harrypaul was released and will appear at the Ontario Court of Justice in Brampton at a later date.

Anyone with information on this incident is asked to contact investigators with the 21 Division Criminal Investigation Bureau at (905)453-2121 ext. 2133. Anonymous information may also be submitted by calling Peel Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477), by visiting peelcrimestoppers.ca.

THERE IS NO ESCAPE LIKE HOME: FORD CELEBRATES DIWALI

She is seen taking a short road trip in the Escape from Toronto to her childhood home in London, Ontario. The family reunion adds an element of emotional connection that every human can feel during these times. This didactic video teaches us how one yearns for family love, and it becomes imperative to meet the old-aged parents and share joys with them. According to Ethnicity Matters' spokesperson, "It was an extraordinary privilege to be able to work on this project. Due to the pandemic, many families have had to endure the pain of separation from their loved ones, particularly senior parents, even if they live close by. This year Diwali was much more than just a festival of rituals and customs. It was an opportunity to connect in person with our loved ones. It was great to have Ford Canada trust us to tell a moving story around Diwali, featuring Ford Escape." Even though the video centers around the South-Asian community, its message is universal and transcends cultures. The emotion of seeing one's family after a long time connects with everyone and provides a feeling of nostalgia. Ethnicity Matters' spokesperson believes a typical car advertising is all about best deals and car features. However, this story helps connect with the South Asian community and directly touches their hearts, making it memorable.

STATISTICS CANADA SAYS ANNUAL INFLATION UP TO 4.7% IN OCTOBER

Canada's annual inflation rose to 4.7 per cent in October 2021 from 4.4 per cent in September, according to Statistics Canada.

It was the largest year-over-year rise since February 2003 because of snarls in supply chains, bumps in prices at the pump and comparisons to lows seen in 2020.

All eight components that the data agency tracks were higher, but the increase was led by higher transportation costs, which went up by more than 10 per cent in 2020, Xinhua news agency reported.

The increase in consumer prices for transportation was primarily driven by a 25.5 per cent rise in energy prices.

The gasoline prices rose 41.7 per cent in the country in October compared with the same month of 2020. Excluding energy prices, the consumer price index (CPI) was up 3.3 per cent in September compared with October 2020.

Food prices continued to creep higher, too. Meat prices rose by almost 10 per cent, on average, with bacon, in particular, going up at more than twice that rate.

October's inflation marked a new pandemic-era high for the CPI, which came in above the Bank of Canada's target range of between one and three per cent for the seventh consecutive month.

ONTARIO EXPANDS ELIGIBILITY FOR THIRD DOSES OF COVID-19 VACCINE TO SOME SELECT GROUPS

TORONTO — Following Health Canada’s approval of the paediatric Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine, children aged five to 11 will be eligible to book their appointment to receive the vaccine beginning Tuesday, November 23, 2021. Approximately one million children aged five to 11 are eligible to receive the vaccine which will help protect Ontario’s progress in the fight against COVID-19 and keep the province’s schools safer and open for in-person learning as more people move indoors and attend family gatherings during the colder months this winter. “The approval of the Pfizer vaccine for children aged five to 11 is exciting news for families and represents a bright light at the end of the tunnel,” said Christine Elliott, Deputy Premier and Minister of Health. “Offering the protection of the vaccine to children aged five to 11 is a significant milestone in Ontario’s fight against COVID-19 in advance of the holiday season. We continue to encourage all Ontarians to roll up their sleeves and get vaccinated to protect themselves, their families and their communities.” As of 8:00 a.m. on Tuesday, November 23, 2021, children aged five to 11 across Ontario will be eligible to schedule a COVID-19 vaccine appointment through a variety of channels including the COVID-19 vaccination portal and contact centre, directly through public health units using their own booking system, participating pharmacies which individuals can find on Ontario’s website using the pharmacy locator, and select primary care providers. To book an appointment online, children must be turning five years old by the end of 2021 (born in 2016). Ontario is expected to receive 1,076,000 doses of the paediatric Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine from the federal government, which will then be immediately distributed to public health units, pharmacies, and primary care settings across the province. Appointments across the province are expected to begin as early as November 25 when the federal supply arrives at vaccine clinics across the province. “Receiving vaccine approval for children aged five to 11 is another critical milestone in our vaccination efforts,” said Solicitor General Sylvia Jones. “Across the province, Ontarians have rolled up their sleeves to get vaccinated to stop the spread of COVID-19 and now parents can take comfort in knowing their children will also have the opportunity to be protected.” “Increasing vaccine rates will help to further minimize disruption and keep students learning in a more normal in-class experience,” said Stephen Lecce, Minister of Education. “As a result of widespread ventilation improvements, increasing investments, and comprehensive testing options, Ontario has one of the lowest case rates for youth under 20 in Canada.” In addition, the province, in conjunction with Health Canada’s First Nations and Inuit Health Branch, has launched Operation Remote Immunity 3.0 (ORI 3.0) to support the administration of COVID-19 vaccines for children aged five to 11 in Northern and Remote First Nation communities, as well as booster doses to eligible populations. ORI 3.0 will run until March 2022. “Keeping a low rate of infection in our communities is vital to keeping our schools, our businesses and our social settings as safe as possible while minimizing disruption,” said Dr. Kieran Moore, Chief Medical Officer of Health. “The paediatric Pfizer vaccine offered to children aged five to 11 will be a lower dose that is safe and effective at protecting this age group from COVID-19 and the Delta variant. I strongly encourage every parent and caregiver to get their younger children vaccinated and protected.” Achieving the highest vaccination rates possible is key to limiting the risk of transmission and protecting our hard-fought progress against COVID-19. Together with its partners the government continues its Last Mile Strategy to administer thousands of first and second doses to adults and youth already eligible for their shot as we also continue to provide booster doses to nearly three million eligible Ontarians. “The COVID-19 vaccine has been proven to be very effective at preventing severe disease and hospitalization in adults – and now clinical trial data suggest that the same appears to be true for young school-aged children. I and many other Ontario parents are feeling lucky that we have the opportunity to get our children immunized, thereby taking another step to prevent COVID-19 spread within our households and communities,” Dr. Jeff Pernica, Ontario Immunization Advisory Council (OIAC) & Associate Professor, McMaster said.

CANADA TO ALLOW ENTRY OF TRAVELLERS FULLY VACCINATED WITH SINOPHARM, SINOVAR, COVAXIN

OTTAWA, (IANS) Travellers who are fully vaccinated with the shots from Sinopharm, Sinovac and Covaxin will be allowed to enter Canada starting November 30, the Canadian government said. Currently, Canada only accepts travellers who have received the vaccines, including Pfizer, Moderna, AstraZeneca and Johnson and Johnson. Also starting November 30, people leaving Canada by land or by air for less than 72 hours will no longer be required to provide proof of a negative molecular test to re-enter the country, Xinhua news agency reported. This change applies only to Canadians, permanent residents and individuals registered under the Indian Act, as well as accompanying children under 12, and individuals with medical contraindications to vaccination. Additionally, starting January 15, certain groups of travellers, who are currently exempt from entry requirements, will only be allowed to enter Canada if they are fully vaccinated. Those groups include individuals travelling to reunite with family, international students, professional and amateur athletes, individuals with a valid work permit and other essential service workers including truck drivers. “With more Canadians getting vaccinated every day, we can move forward cautiously toward a more open border economy and society,” said Health Minister Jean-Yves Duclos. “At the same time, we can’t let our guard down.” To date, the country has reported a total of 1.78 cases with 29,481 deaths, according to the Canadian government.

COVID-19 EXPOSURE: PEEL ADVISING RESIDENTS WHO ATTENDED A FUNERAL AT NEW LIFE COVENANT CENTRE IN MISSISSAUGA ON NOVEMBER 13 TO SEEK IMMEDIATE TESTING

Peel Public Health is advising anyone who attended a funeral at New Life Covenant Centre located at 7050 Bramalea Rd, Mississauga, ON L5S 1S9 on November 13th to seek immediate PCR testing. All guests should get tested immediately and self-isolate while awaiting results, regardless of vaccination status. Individuals who refuse testing must self-isolate for 20 days. For attendees that initially tested with a Rapid Antigen Test or other points of care test, Peel Public Health is asking them to be re-tested with a PCR test. Everyone seeking testing because of the exposure should give testers the following outbreak number: 2253-2021-50639 Testing locations can be found by Googling “COVID testing near me” with location services enabled. Information on how to self-isolate can be found on the Coronavirus self-isolation page. Failure to comply with self-isolation can result in fines under the Section 22 Class Order.

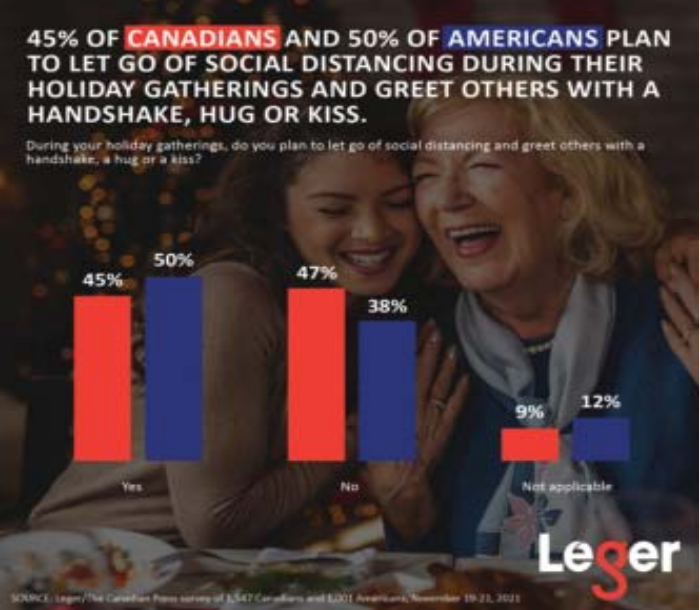

ONTARIO SENDING STUDENTS HOME WITH RAPID COVID-19 ANTIGEN TESTS FOR WINTER BREAK

Additional Testing Options, Resources and New Safety Protocols Will Help Protect our Progress and Keep Schools Safer as Students Return to Normal Timetabling. The Ontario government is enhancing COVID-19 testing by expanding the number of testing locations and making it more convenient to access publicly funded testing for those who need it. These new testing options are being deployed as more people head indoors and attend family gatherings during the colder winter months. “While vaccination remains the best way to protect against COVID-19, testing remains a key part of our pandemic response by detecting cases earlier and providing an additional layer of safety,” said Christine Elliott, Deputy Premier and Minister of Health. “As we head into the colder months we are enhancing our testing strategy to ensure that every Ontarian, regardless of where they live, can access testing closer to home when they need it and get a test result as quickly as possible.”

PEEL PUBLIC HEALTH ADVISES RESIDENTS TO GET THEIR ANNUAL FLU SHOT

Peel Public Health advises residents to get their annual flu shot this November to help protect against influenza. All residents can make an appointment to get their free flu shot at the following locations: Family doctors’ offices and walk-in clinics for adults and children over 6 months of age. Participating pharmacies for adults and children aged 2 and over. Individuals without a health card can get a flu shot from a community health centre or at a pharmacy. As well, certain doctors’ offices, walk-in clinics and participating pharmacies may offer the option of co-administrating the flu shot and COVID-19 vaccine. Residents are encouraged to speak to their health care professional regarding co-administration and to enquire if this option is appropriate for them. Please note that Peel Public Health COVID-19 vaccination clinics will not be offering the flu shot. To help reduce the risk of contracting or spreading the flu: Wash your hands often and try not to touch your face. Stay home if you are sick. Disinfect surfaces like countertops, door handles, computer keyboards and phones. The flu virus can live on hard surfaces like these for up to 48 hours.

Almost 45% Canadians To Ditch Social Distancing At Holiday Parties: Leger Poll

In Canada and the United States, the holidays are less than a month away, meaning that many Canadians and Americans have already started (or will soon start) planning their 2021 holiday celebrations. When it comes to the 2021 holiday season: 26% of Canadians and 30% of Americans plan to go back to the holiday celebrations they would have had pre-COVID-19. 37% of Canadians and 26% of Americans plan to celebrate more than last year with friends and family, but not as much as pre-COVID-19. 27% of Canadians and 28% of Americans do not plan to celebrate any more than last year. When thinking about planning their holiday celebrations, Americans are more likely than Canadians to say they would: Invite a family member/friend into their home if they knew that person was not vaccinated (35% of Canadians, 54% of Americans). Accept a family member/friend’s invitation to a party if they knew unvaccinated people would be present (32% of Canadians, 47% of Americans). 45% of Canadians and 50% of Americans plan to let go of social distancing during their holiday gatherings and greet others with a handshake, hug or kiss. METHODOLOGY This web survey was conducted from November 19 to November 21, 2021, with 1,547 Canadians and 1,001 Americans, 18 years of age or older, randomly recruited from LEO’s online panel. For comparison, a probability sample of 1,547 respondents would have a margin of error of ±2.49%, 19 times out of 20, while a probability sample of 1,001 would have a margin of error of ±3.09%, 19 times out of 20.

CONG TO IMPLEMENT 'ONE MAN ONE POST' FORMULA IN PARTY SOON

NEW DELHI, (IANS) The Congress is gearing up to implement the 'one man one post' scheme soon as the party has decided that no one will get dual assignments. The idea behind implementing this formula is to accommodate more people in the organisation, and in the government. The Congress' reforms may start from Madhya Pradesh where former chief minister Kamal Nath is holding the dual office of state President and the leader of the legislative party. On Monday, Kamal Nath met Congress chief Sonia Gandhi along with state in-charge Mukul Wasnik. After the meeting, he said he will abide by whichever role the party decides for him. The Congress started the process from Jharkhand when it removed Rameshwar Oraon as state president, and in Maharashtra, Balasahab Thorat was replaced by Nana Patole as Thorat was a minister in the state cabinet. In Rajasthan, three people who quit ministerial positions were appointed in the AICC. The Congress is pushing the reform within the party despite pressure from the senior leaders and giving more chances to the younger lot in the party, and the government. Currently, Congress floor leader Adhir

Ranjan Chowdhury is holding the post of president of the West Bengal Congress unit while Randeep Surjewala is General Secretary in-charge of Karnataka and Communication. BC Das is in-charge, Manipur and Bihar. There are several other leaders in the party holding dual posts. The process will be implemented at the AICC level too where the in-charges holding dual post or having assignment of two states may have to shed one responsibility as the Congress is trying to accommodate more people within the party. The Congress has given the party leadership in Kerala to younger individuals despite resistance from seniors like Oommen Chandy and Ramesh Chennithala. Also, the state president in Assam was changed but the party is yet to decide on the leadership issue in Bihar and Gujarat where the state leaders have resisted any move to appoint younger leaders by ignoring the veterans. The Gujarat leaders have already made this clear to state in-charge Raghu Sharma, while a proposal to appoint a new state president in Bihar is pending with the party leadership.

UP tops nation in air connectivity; 5 int'l airports 1st for any state

LUCKNOW, (IANS) Uttar Pradesh has achieved yet another record in its relentless march towards having world-class connectivity and infrastructure in a short period of less than five years. With the groundbreaking and foundation-laying ceremony for the Noida International Airport scheduled on November 25, the state is now on way to having five international airports -- the highest for any state in India. In perspective, the state had only two international airports since 2012 when Varanasi got this distinction after Lucknow. The international airport at Kushinagar became operational after it was inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on October 20, 2021, while work on the international airport in Ayodhya is on full swing and air services are expected to start early next year. The fifth international airport is to come up at Jewar near Noida in the National Capital Region (NCR). At present, Uttar Pradesh has 8 operational airports, while 13 airports and 7 airstrips are being developed. The operational airports handling commercial flights in Uttar Pradesh are Lucknow, Varanasi, Kushinagar, Gorakhpur, Agra, Kanpur, Prayagraj and Hindon (Ghaziabad). The unique distinction of Uttar Pradesh in providing unmatched air connectivity in the country is in keeping with the Government's commitment to ensure uninterrupted multi-modal connectivity on land, railways, water and air. The ambitious Prime Minister's GatiShakti National Master Plan has infused a sense of urgency into the plans for infrastructure development in the state. The Noida International Airport (NIA) being constructed near the town of Jewar in Gautam Buddha Nagar in the NCR region in Uttar Pradesh will be India's largest airport after its completion. Its location is about 72 km from the existing IGI airport in New Delhi, 40 km from Noida and about 40 km from the multi-modal logistics hub at Dadri. It will have excellent multi-modal connectivity as it is close to the existing Yamuna Expressway (Greater Noida to Agra), close to Eastern Peripheral Expressway and it will have link with Delhi-Mumbai Expressway at Ballabgarh, Khurja-Jewar NH 91, link to dedicated freight corridor, Metro Extension from Noida to NIA and link with the proposed High Speed Rail (Delhi-Varanasi) at airport terminal. * The phase I of the airport will have a capacity to serve 12 million passengers a year and is scheduled to be completed in 36 months. * In each phase, the airport will expand to serve 70 million passengers by the end of phase 4, subject to passenger growth and traffic. The Kushinagar airport inaugurated by the Prime Minister Narendra Modi on October 20 is located 47 km from Gorakhpur. Kushinagar is an important place for Buddhist pilgrims from all over the world as it is believed that Gautam Buddha had attained Nirvana here more than 2,500 years ago. It provides connectivity to many places of Buddhist pilgrimage such as Lumbini in Rupandehi District of Nepal; Sarnath in Varanasi, Shravasti near Bahraich, and Bodhgaya, Rajgir and Vaishali in Bihar. The air connectivity of both eastern and western Uttar Pradesh will improve manifold with the Kushinagar airport and proposed NIA. It will truly be a momentous achievement for a state that is on way to be a leader in the nation's march towards progress.

SC GRANTS PROTECTION FROM ARREST TO PARAM BIR SINGH

NEW DELHI, (IANS) The Supreme Court on Monday granted protection from arrest to former Mumbai Police Commissioner Param Bir Singh in cases against him in Maharashtra, and directed him to join the investigation. A bench headed by Justice Sanjay Kishan Kaul said: "Wonder what will happen to a common man. Matter has become curiouser and curiouser...first the home minister and then the police commissioner..." Senior advocate Puneet Bali, representing Singh, told the top court that his client is very much in the country and added that the moment his client touches Maharashtra, there is threat to his life. The bench told the lawyer that "if you say your client faces threat to life from the Mumbai Police, then what is the hope for other people." Bali submitted that FIRs against his client were lodged by bookies, extortionists, etc., against whom he had taken action. Bali urged the top court to allow Singh to appear before any officer of the court of the CBI. He emphasized that his client is in India, but apprehends action would be taken by the Maharashtra government against him, and the prayer before the Bombay High Court was to direct the matter to CBI. After hearing detailed arguments, the top court said the only question to be examined is that the CBI is already looking into the matter and could the other aspects be entrusted to the CBI. The bench added that the stand of the CBI and state government is not known, as the petition was decided preliminarily. "Notice issued to respondents, returnable on December 6...the petitioner shall join the investigation, but shall not be arrested," said the top court. On November 18, the Supreme Court asked Singh's counsel to disclose which part of the world or the country he is in, and without these details, the court would not entertain his plea seeking protection. The top court had told Bali, representing Singh, "where are you... within the country or outside. First, I want to know where are you." Bali replied that his client's whereabouts would be known to the counsel-on-record.

Bill to ban all cryptocurrencies to be tabled in Winter Session of Indian Parliament

NEW DELHI, (IANS) The Union government will move a Bill that seeks to prohibit all private cryptocurrencies in India in the Winter Session of Parliament starting November 29. It will be called The Cryptocurrency and Regulation of Official Digital Currency Bill, 2021. However, it allows for certain exceptions to promote the underlying technology of cryptocurrency and its usage. The government's objective is "to create a facilitative framework for the creation of the official digital currency to be issued by the Reserve Bank of India". The Bill has been listed for introduction, consideration and passing in the Lok Sabha. It is among 26 new Bills, which are to be introduced in the Parliament session beginning November 29. Prime Minister Narendra Modi had earlier said that all democratic countries need to work together on cryptocurrency and ensure that it does not end up in the wrong hands. Giving an example of the virtual currency, he had said, "Take cryptocurrency or Bitcoin for example. It is important that all nations work together on this and ensure it does not end up in the wrong hands, which can spoil our youth." Several high meetings have been held to discuss the regulation of cryptocurrencies. The Parliamentary Standing Committee had also called for the regulation.

BJP LEADERSHIP GIVES 'MANTRAS' TO DELHI UNIT TO WIN NEXT YEAR'S MUNICIPAL POLLS

NEW DELHI, (IANS) The BJP central leadership has given 'mantras' to the party unit in the national capital to win next year's municipal polls for fourth consecutive terms. Addressing a state executive of the Delhi BJP on Monday, senior party leaders asked the state unit to start the campaign with a positive note, end differences and hit the ground. The tickets will be decided on survey reports, and also asked its leaders to reach out to the old cadre. It is learnt that while addressing the Delhi state executive meet party, BJP national General Secretary (Organisation) B.L. Santhosh asked the leaders to start the campaign with a positive note as negative campaigns give advantage to the opposition parties. "Santhosh said that our workers should only talk about positive things about the corporations and our government at the Centre. He categorically said there should be no negative talks. He explained that negative talks give advantage to rivals," a Delhi BJP leader said. The BJP national vice president and Delhi in-charge Baijayant Jay Panda has said that in ensuing corporations' polls it is the people who will decide as to who will get a ticket. "Those who desire tickets should stop doing 'Ganesh parikrama' (doing rounds of senior leaders) and rather go and work amidst the people. The one who people would want, with a clean image and winability factor will get the ticket," Panda said. A party office-bearer present in the meeting said that Panda's message was loud and clear that tickets will be decided on the findings of the survey reports.

AFTER RESHUFFLE, RAJASTHAN CONG LEADERS LOBBY FOR PARTY POSTS

NEW DELHI, (IANS) After the cabinet reshuffle in Rajasthan, the Congress leaders are now lobbying for the organisational posts and eyeing vacancies in boards and corporations for their supporters. The Congress leaders of the state are making rounds to Delhi to meet State in-charge Ajay Maken and General Secretary organisation K.C. Venugopal. After the cabinet reshuffle, the state unit is also likely to undergo a rejig, and ahead of that state party chief Govind Singh Dotasra will meet the party in-charge on Tuesday in Delhi. The aim of the meeting is to accommodate all factions within the party. On Sunday, Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot inducted 15 new ministers to his council -- 11 cabinet and four state ministers. Six MLAs, including three Independents, were appointed as advisors to Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot after the cabinet reshuffle. The MLAs are Dr Jitendra Singh, Dr Rajkumar Sharma, Danish Abrar and three Independents -- Sanyam Lodha, Babulal Nagar and Ramkesh Meena. But Independent MLA Ramkesh Meena, the newly-appointed advisor to Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot, on Monday launched a scathing attack on former Deputy Chief Minister Sachin Pilot, saying that the Congress will suffer in Rajasthan because of Pilot. This indicates that all is still not well within the party and the Congress needs more fine tuning in the state. The Pilot camp had objected to the induction of Independent MLAs into the cabinet. During the political crisis in Rajasthan last year, 13 Independent MLAs stood by Gehlot and saved the government. However, none of them have found a place in the Cabinet. Gehlot had recently said that the cooperation of these MLAs can never be forgotten. However, now there seems to be disappointment among them, as they have been left out of the state Cabinet.

RULERS SHOULD INTROSPECT EVERYDAY IF DECISIONS TAKEN ARE GOOD: CHIEF JUSTICE OF INDIA

NEW DELHI, (IANS) Chief Justice of India N.V. Ramana on Monday said the rulers should introspect everyday whether the decisions taken by them are good and also check if they have any bad characteristics. He emphasized that in a democracy people are ultimate lords and the decisions of the dispensation should benefit them. Justice Ramana said this while delivering the 40th convocation address of the Andhra Pradesh-based Sri Sathya Sai Institute for Higher Learning. Citing ancient scriptures Mahabharat and Ramayana, Justice Ramana said there are 14 bad qualities of rulers which they should avoid. He said: "All the rulers in the democratic set-up, before beginning their routine work, should introspect whether they have any bad characteristics. There is need to offer just administration and it should be according to people's needs". After making a speech in English, the Chief Justice addressed the audience in Telugu. Justice Ramana added that the people are the ultimate lords in democracy and whatever decision has been taken by the dispensation should benefit them. He further added it was his desire that all the systems should be independent (within the country) and also honest, with an aim to serve the people, which was also said by Sathya Sai Baba. In the English part of the address, Justice Ramana said the modern education system tends to focus only on the 'utilitarian' function of education and it is not equipped to deal with the moral and spiritual function which builds the character of the students. He said: "Unfortunately, the modern education system tends to focus only on the 'utilitarian' function of education. Such a system is not equipped to deal with the 'moral' or 'spiritual' function of education which builds the character of our students and allows them to develop a social consciousness and a sense of responsibility."

PAKISTAN MUST END ABHORRENT USE OF ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCE: AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

NEW DELHI, (IANS) Pakistani authorities must end their abhorrent use of enforced disappearance, said Amnesty International detailing the practices devastating impact on the families of those who have gone missing. The report documents how enforced disappearance, a crime under international law in which state agents deny holding an individual or refuse to provide information on their fate or whereabouts, not only violates the human rights of the individuals who are disappeared, but also impacts affected families' mental and physical health, financial status, and security, as well as leading to stigma and social isolation. Although cases have been documented as far back as the mid-1980s, the practice has been routinely used by Pakistan's intelligence services since the inception of the so-called "War on Terror" in 2001, to target human rights defenders, political activists, students, and journalists, with the fate of hundreds of victims still unknown. A proposed amendment to outlaw enforced disappearance has been mired in the legislative process for more than two and a half years and the current iteration does not conform with international human rights law and best practices. "Enforced disappearance is a cruel practice that has caused indelible pain to hundreds of families in Pakistan over the past two decades. On top of the untold anguish of losing a loved one and having no idea of their whereabouts or safety, families endure other long-term effects including ill-health and financial problems," said Rehab Mahamoor, Amnesty International's Acting South Asia Researcher. "It's a punishment without end that Pakistan's authorities must consign to history. As well as expediting the criminalization of enforced disappearance through legislation in line with international human rights law, the authorities must immediately disclose the fate and whereabouts of all victims to their families and release those still being held." Amnesty International spoke to the family members of 10 people whose fate remains unknown after they were abducted by Pakistan's security services. Each of them described resultant stress-related health issues including high blood pressure, cardiac conditions, and gastro-intestinal illnesses. Affected families also suffer financial consequences, as the disappeared are invariably the main breadwinner. In three cases documented by Amnesty International, the children of those disappeared had been forced to drop out of school due to the loss of family income or stigma. Sultan Mahmood, whose two brothers were abducted in 2014 and 2021 respectively, told Amnesty International that losing two sources of family income, combined with the legal costs of trying to secure the return of his brothers, had left him in debt of 2.5 million PKR ($15,000), forcing him to sell all of his assets, including his home. In another case, the younger sister of Sammi Baloch, a prominent activist against enforced disappearance whose father was disappeared by the authorities in 2009, was prevented from sitting exams at a college in Balochistan managed by the army, after officials became aware who she was related to. The families of those forcibly disappeared often face an impossible choice between staying silent in the aftermath of an abduction or risking the loss of their loved one forever. Intimidation and harassment from the authorities can follow them for years after a disappearance has taken place and sometimes continues after the person is returned. This can be in the form of heavy-handed surveillance, threatening calls from blocked numbers and even phishing attacks on personal devices.

US RUNNING OUT OF TIME TO LIMIT DANGEROUS COVID SURGE: DR. FAUCI

WASHINGTON, (IANS) With the holiday season approaching in the US, the country is running out of time to prevent the "dangerous" new surge of Covid-19 cases, warned chief medical adviser Anthony Fauci, even as he asked the fully vaccinated to ditch masks. The US is seeing a fresh surge in Covid infections, with cases approaching 100,000 per day for the first time in weeks. Experts fear that the Thanksgiving holiday this week, when millions of Americans will gather for indoor celebrations with family and friends, will fuel a further surge, the Guardian reported. Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, said it was not too late to avoid a significant worsening of Covid rates leading up to Christmas and New Year. If adults get fully vaccinated as well as take booster shots, and also vaccinate children aged five to 11, it may help to subdue the virus. "We still have about 60 million people in this country who are eligible to be vaccinated who have not been, and that results in the dynamic of virus in the community that not only is dangerous and makes people who are unvaccinated vulnerable, but it also spills over into the vaccinated people," Fauci was quoted as saying on CNN on Sunday. "We have a lot of virus circulating around. You can't walk away from the data, and the data show that the cases are starting to go up, which is not unexpected when you get into a winter season. People start to go indoors more and we know that immunity does wane over time."

WILL IMRAN KHAN GOVERNMENT SURVIVE?

The Pakistan Opposition thought Prime Minister Imran Khan had lost the confidence of his members and the allies in the National Assembly and the Senate. However, he passed through this storm comfortably, the report said. Last week, the government was defeated twice in the National Assembly and it had to put off the joint sitting of parliament within 24 hours of its summoning, as the allies had distanced themselves from the government. The Opposition was hoping, once again, the government would not be able to complete the numbers and would, ultimately, fail to pass the legislation for changing the voting system. They had believed that they would have the chance to stop the government just the way they did a week ago. However, when the votes were counted, the opposition found that its seven members were absent for varying reasons - ranging from health issues to foreign visits, the report said. The Opposition had been putting up brave face ahead of the joint session of parliament but Wednesday belonged to the treasury. The joint sitting passed all the required bills, including the two key ones, which deal with holding the next elections via electronic voting machines and allowing overseas Pakistanis the right to vote in the future elections.
