MY FANS, FRIENDS WERE PAINED TO SEE ILLEGAL DEMOLITION OF MY HOUSE: KANGANA RANAUT

Almost a month after her Mumbai property was demolished by the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC), actor Kangana Ranaut on Tuesday shared pictures of handwritten notes by her fans and said they were "pained to see the illegal demolition." The 'Panga' actor took to Twitter to share two pictures of a hand-written note by her fan along with some gifts extending support to her. Kangana wrote, "My fans/friends were pained to see the illegal demolition of my house, this collective gesture of theirs has moved me, these idols will enhance the beauty and divinity of my temple which was brutally broken will always remind me there is more kindness in the world than cruelty." Earlier last month, the BMC had demolished parts of her production house - Manikamika Films - situated in Mumbai's Pali hills. On Tuesday, Kangana also expressed her disappointment after top Bollywood production houses and associations filed a suit in Delhi High Court against certain news channels for defaming the industry. She also mentioned how the industry, especially the big heroes, exploited the late actor Sushant Singh Rajput. "Big heros not only objectify women but also exploit young girls, they don't let young men like Sushant Singh Rajput come up, at the age of 50 they want to play school kids, they never stand up for anyone even if people are being wronged before their eyes #BollywoodStrikesBack," Kangana added, posting a picture of Sushant.

'SIDHARTH SHUKLA IS WORST NOW': NETIZENS SLAM 'BIGG BOSS 14' SENIORS FOR EVICTING SARA GURPAL

The first eviction on Bigg Boss 14 was witnessed on Monday. Not by public votes, but due to decision by 'Toofani Seniors' Gauahar Khan, Hina Khan and Sidharth Shukla, Sara Gurpal was asked to leave the house. During the discussion on who should be evicted, Sidharth was hell-bent on making Sara leave while Hina and Gauahar were juggling between Rahul Vaidya and Nishant Singh Malkhani. This final decision by the seniors did not go well with the netizens who called the eviction 'unfair'.

People slammed Sidharth by calling him 'bully' for eliminating Sara who was nominated only by Jaan Kumar Sanu during the nomination process. One of the Twitter users wrote, "That why I said #SidharthShukla is worst now after joining BiggBoss although he never was good in life today he has proved again. Even after knowing #SaraGurpal was unwell, he says because he knows others and Sara is an outsider he wants to let her go."

MOST LOSSES IN IPL? DELHI CAPITALS STARING AT UNWANTED CENTURY IN TOURNAMENT

Delhi Capitals are a team that has underachieved in the Indian Premier League along with Kings XI Punjab. Ever since the inception of the IPL in 2008, Delhi Capitals have never won the title and they achieved embarrassment for 11 years when they did not win a single match in the knock-out tournament. In IPL 2019, they won the Eliminator against Sunrisers Hyderabad which was their first win in an IPL knock-out match.

In 2008, they finished fourth while in IPL 2009 in South Africa, they topped the group only to be eliminated in the semi-final by a spirited Deccan Chargers. In IPL 2010, they finished fifth but since then, they have struggled. In IPL 2011, they secured the wooden spoon. Although they lost in the second qualifier of IPL 2012 due to botched team selection, in IPL 2013 and IPL 2014, they once again finished at the bottom. From IPL 2015 to IPL 2017, they just avoided the wooden spoon before once again touching rock bottom in the 2018 edition. The fact that the entire play-off system was changed due to Delhi Capitals' poor show in the knock-outs is a measure of how greatly they have under-achieved. It is no surprise that ahead of the match against Rajasthan Royals, the Delhi Capitals are staring at an unwanted century which will make them the first team to achieve this dubious distinction in IPL history. In 184 IPL games played by Delhi Capitals, they have won 80 and lost 99. If they lose to Rajasthan Royals on Wednesday they will become the first team in history to have lost 100 games in the IPL. Delhi Capitals are level with Kings XI Punjab when it comes to losses as they too are on 99.

NEETU KAPOOR DANCES TO 'GHAGRA', FANS ASK 'PREPPING FOR RANBIR KAPOOR-ALIA BHATT'S WEDDING?'

In a latest video, that has surfaced online, veteran actress Neetu Kapoor can be seen dancing to 'Yeh Jawaani Hai Deewani' song 'Ghagra' along with noted choreographer Rajendra Singh aka Masterji, who is known for choreographing sangeet performances for celeb weddings. Dancing to the tunes of the song which has been originally picturised on Madhuri Dixit Nene and son Ranbir Kapoor, Neetu Kapoor can be seen flawlessly executing each step, as Masterji gives her company in the performance. There's no denying that Neetu's expressions and her moves are totally on point. Dressed in a navy blue top and distressed jeans, Neetu can be seen matching steps with the choreographer and giving one of the best dance performances that we have seen in recent times.

And while many social media users took to the comments section of the clip posted on Instagram, to praise Neetu for her fabulous dancing, others were prompt to ask if she was rehearsing for Ranbir Kapoor-Alia Bhatt's wedding? Alia Bhatt and Ranbir Kapoor, who have been dating for quite some time now, often feature in media reports that claim the two have zeroed in on a December wedding and have a date in mind, which will most probably be after their film 'Brahmastra' directed by Ayan Mukherjee, goes on floors on December 4. It is not hidden that Alia Bhatt has often been spotted at with the Kapoor's, celebrating special occasions and being a part of their family circle. Therefore, upon seeing Neetu practising dancing so diligently, curious fans wanted to know if she was prepping for Ranbir Kapoor-Alia Bhatt's upcoming wedding.

"Is this for Ranbir's wedding?" wrote a social media user. "Is this for Alia and RK wedding?" asked another user. "Alia Ranbir wedding?" asked yet another Instagram user.

While the users were many, the question remained the same. However, it is unclear if the video is a throwback or a recent one.

Earlier, we saw Neetu Kapoor, Ranbir Kapoor, Alia Bhatt and Bharat Sahni along with other Kapoor and Sahni family members groove to 'Aap Jaisa Koi' from Qurbani movie, in a surprise dance performance for Riddhima Kapoor Sahni, who celebrated her 40th birthday on September 14. To Riddhima's surprise, her family and friends got together virtually and created a video to wish her on her special day.

KARNATAKA COURT DIRECTS POLICE TO FILE FIR AGAINST KANGANA RANAUT OVER FARM LAWS TWEET

Tumakuru district court in Karnataka has ordered a First Information Report to be filed against Bollywood actor Kangana Ranaut. The action was taken after a lawyer, L Ramesh Naik, had complained against her tweet in which she slammed the protests against the Centre's farm laws. "The office is hereby directed to issue intimation to the circle police inspector of Kyathasandra police station along with (a) photostat copy of the complaint for report," the court ordered. Kangana had called people protesting against the farm laws as 'terrorists'. "People who spread misinformation and rumours about CAA (Citizenship Amendment Act) that caused riots are the same people who are now spreading misinformation about Farmers bill and causing terror in the nation, they are terrorists," she had tweeted on September 21.

Sana Khan 'purifies' Instagram timeline, deletes all shred of evidence to showbiz

After announcing her decision to quit showbiz, actor Sana Khan has now purified her Instagram account, removing every last shred of evidence that she was a part of the entertainment industry.

There are currently 102 posts on her account, with the first post going back to 2016. However, any picture tying her to the world of showbiz and glamour has been removed. Her Instagram is full of religious posts, besides a meme or two. Sana has 3.3 million followers on Instagram and was last seen on screen in the Hotstar web series Special OPS. She is best known for having appeared in Bigg Boss 6 and Salman Khan's Jai Ho. Taking to her verified Instagram handle on Friday, Sana Khan stated that she had resolved to say goodbye to her showbiz lifestyle forever and serve humanity and follow the commandments of her creator. She captioned the post, "My happiest moment. May Allah help me n guide me in this journey. Aap sab mujhe dua Mai Shamil rakhe (Keep me in your prayers)."

In her long note, shared as an image on Instagram, Sana wrote, "I am at an important juncture in my life. For years, I have been living the Showbiz (Film Industry) life, and during this time I have been blessed with all kinds of fame, honour and wealth from my fans for which I am grateful to them. But, for the last few days, a thought has kept me occupied. I have been wondering, does one take birth only to earn wealth and fame for oneself? Isn't it a moral responsibility of humans to serve or support those who are helpless or needy? Shouldn't people think about what will happen to them in the after-life since one can die at any given time?"

MOVIE REVIEW

VIKRANT MASSEY-YAMI GAUTAM'S FILM IS 'THODA CUTE, THODA CHEESY'

Welcome to the world of a classic masala entertainer - a romantic (comedy?) featuring Vikrant Massey with Yami Gautam. 'Ginny Weds Sunny', like the name suggests, has everything a wedding is about - small moments of fun, confusion, lots of dance and songs - basically a potboiler.

The story of 'Ginny Weds Sunny' is, to be simply put, complicated. A girl Ginny (played by Yami Gautam) is perceived to be an ideal Delhiite (does that exist?) Also, the description is given by her ex (erm?) To top it all, her real name has princess in it (like, come on!) With this, you would have a hint about the complicated life she has been given, which has not been put out simply either.

While this girl is leading her life (in a happily complicated friendship-ex boyfriend-now lover relationship), her mother is blissfully unaware about the confusions in her life and hooks up a childhood acquaintance (who had a crush on her, which by his own words, happened to every boy in the neighbourhood). Tired yet? That's just one part of the story. The boy Sunny, played by Vikrant Massey, wants to get married ASAP so he could open a restaurant and serve people his delicious food, but that could happen only if he gets married (get a hint of the family already). So, Massey is on the lookout for a girl but consistently fails, till he meets Ginny. Even though he messes up time-and-again even with Ginny, something keeps his hopes up, and honestly, that even keeps the film running at a slow pace.

We have seen the love triangle in 'Bareilly Ki Barfi' in the past, so it is not tough to predict what would happen in 'Ginny Weds Sunny' either. The story falls weak in that aspect.

It is fun to see Vikrant in peppy songs but the movie is not about the songs. His acting, like always, is good, but gets underutilized because of the theme of the film. The very few punchlines were all used in the trailer and thus, the film has nothing new to offer in that aspect either.

'Ginny Weds Sunny' also endorses too many brands, including Badshah. PS: He ruined Mika's classic song 'Saawan Mein Lag Gayi Aag'. Could the makers have gotten rid of that? Maybe. Should they have? Definitely!

Although the overall outlook of the story is tiring, confusing and just makes us want to skip to the songs, Vikrant and Yami's portions in the film are cute and cheesy in bits. He is a die-hard romantic, but even before that, Vikrant is Yami's friend (something her ex could never be). Yami's mother instructs him about how to win her heart (despite not knowing the daughter too well) and he is successful in being a part of Yami's friend circle. Bonus: Her friends love him too! The puppy face, giving space, staying silent work wonders (although I personally think Yami should have gotten rid of her irritated expression, because it kind of irritates the audiences to watch that!)

The film is basically every family ever - irritating and/or oblivious, but still family. It is also every love story ever - where egos win over love almost all the time. Thus, with the relatability factor, comes the predictability, which could make the film boring for most bits (especially without Vikrant or Ayesha) and cute combined with cheesy in some (the movie theatre or asking out for coffee scene).

Akshay Kumar resumes 'Prithviraj' shoot; Sonu Sood joins actor

Actor Akshay Kumar has started shooting for the upcoming historical, Prithviraj. This was confirmed by Dr Chandraprakash Dwivedi, director of the film.

"Yes, we have resumed Prithviraj shoot at YRF studios and the entire team is excited to have a great shooting schedule," Dwivedi said. A source said Akshay started shooting on October 10 for the film, and the schedule is an intense one. "Sonu Sood has also started shooting from the 10th. The team has worked non-stop to ensure that everything was in place for this complex shooting schedule to restart," said the source.

Akshay's co-stars Manushi Chhillar and Sanjay Dutt will also be scheduled to start shooting for the film again. The source added, "It's great news that big films are starting to shoot again, as it will make others more confident to restart the industry. We have heard that Manushi joins the shoot on October 13, and Sanjay Dutt will start shooting post-Diwali." While talking about playing Prithviraj, Akshay had earlier said in a statement, "It is truly an honour that I will be playing the role of one of the most fearless and courageous kings of India, Prithviraj Chauhan. As a nation, we should always celebrate our heroes and immortalize what they did to propagate the values that Indians lived by. Prithviraj is our attempt to bring to light his valour and daredevilry. Prithviraj was the only person standing in front of a merciless nemesis and the bravery he showed, made him a true Indian hero, an inspiration for generations and a legend. So this announcement coming on my birthday has indeed made it more special for me."

Kangana Ranaut who resumed shooting for her upcoming film, Thalaivi has scheduled the wrap. The actor took to her Instagram page and shared a few photos from the sets of the film amid the shoot. In the photos, clicked in black and white, Kangana looks pretty as ever with all smiles and also covering herself with a mask. In the third photo shared by the National-award winning actor, we see former Tamil Nadu CM Jayalalithaa who had donned similar saree as Kangana wore during the shoot.

She captioned the post stating, "With the blessings of Jaya Ma we completed one more schedule of Thalaivi- the revolutionary leader. After corona, many things are different but between action and before cut nothing changes. Thank you team @vishnuinduri @shaaileshrsingh #alvijay."

Earlier during an interaction with The Hindu, Kangana spoke at length about Jayalalithaa. She stated, "She (Jayalalithaa) was a different kind of actor. She was not like me. She was a more glamorous star... somebody like an Aishwarya Rai in Bollywood. It was a very big challenge to fit into those shoes because I'm not known as a glamorous star."

She added, "I do feel that there are similarities. She was a very reluctant actor. It is the same with me. I never wanted to be an actor, and that is why we became very unusual actors. I think she always felt that she was worth much more than just being a glam doll [in films], and she became a politician. Like how I became a filmmaker because I felt that being an actress was very limiting for me. So, I think there are parallels."

MOVIE REVIEW

INDIA, HOWEVER, IS MORE EXALTING IN TONE THAN DISPARAGING

Bad Boy Billionaires may be about white-collar offenders, but I also found it to be a fascinating study of human behavior. After months of legal wrangling, Netflix finally won the right to show-case three out of four episodes of their 'Bad Boy Billionaires: India' docuseries. (The fourth episode of the series — about B. Ramalinga Raju — remains on hold as Netflix is still contesting a legal challenge on it.) Consider this: the three offenders here— Vijay Mallya, Nirav Modi and Subrata Roy—have strikingly similar qualities. They are often described as 'flamboyant', they are megalomaniacs displaying narcissistic tendencies, they are surrounded by a small group of loyalists, and both Mallya and Modi yearned for a formidable global presence. If you look at the first episode revolving around Vijay Mallya (directed by Dylan Mohan Gray), the dichotomy in the way he is described by his friends and by his former employees is a revelation. Mallya borrowed heavily from banks and fled the country when his company went bust. Despite owning several properties and assets, he refused to pay his employees for months (leading to an unfortunate suicide). A few years later, the "bankrupt" Mallya held a lavish 60th birthday bash where Enrique Iglesias was flown in for a performance. Former employees interviewed for the series called him a thief in a suit. Meanwhile, his friends continued to downplay his behavior with these words — 'He is not a crook, he's an idiot,' 'the kid in him gets into a lot of trouble,' 'he was callous,' and 'he is in denial'. Perhaps they didn't know how crass their words would sound when placed against the enormity of his actions. The next episode (directed by Johanna Hamilton) is about the more recent Nirav Modi case, aptly titled — 'Diamonds Aren't Forever'. Born into the diamonds business in Surat, Nirav Modi aimed to go international with his brand, competing with the topmost jewellery houses. His aesthetics and signature pieces like the Golconda Lotus Necklace that sold for over 16 crore and the 'Embrace stretchable bangle' were admired by all. But this was another case of a person who let their ambitions get the better of them. Just as his fraudulent activities were about to become national headlines, Modi fled out of India, only to be tracked down by a journalist. This episode has some interesting interviews by his former employees who call him their 'god' and cannot understand why he would do something that would jeopardize their lives. I still remember the music video released years ago, where Subrata Roy and wife Swapna chronicled their rags-to-riches story. It was a tad disappointing to not find the video as part of the episode titled 'The world's biggest family' (helmed by Nick Read). Roy built the Sahara India Pariwar company from the chit fund pyramid scheme, wherein people with limited means deposited their earnings in the hopes of getting good returns. Frighteningly, at some point, one in 17 Indians were depositors in the Sahara scheme. The returns came initially, and then dried up. When Roy, often called SaharaShri, threw a mad lavish wedding for his sons (counted as one of the priciest weddings ever), he came under the scanner. The episode has interviews with depositors who never saw their money again, news editors, and Sharat Pradhan, an investigative journalist who trailed the story for almost 30 years. Despite the fraud that led to innumerable people suffering, it's fascinating to see that Roy still finds supporters who speak of him as if he were a mythical god-like figure. As far as new and new and ground-breaking information goes, the series offers nothing new. It just holds up a mirror and offers an arresting view into the motivations and workings of these, well, bad boy billionaires. There was a time when it was believed that to be successful in business, you'd have to tweak a few rules and throw ethics out the window. As this series proves, that kind of narcissistic ambition does take one to new heights, but only to plummet into a downward spiral that's unforgiving and fitting.

'BELLBOTTOM' TEASER: AKSHAY KUMAR BRINGS BACK THE 80S IN ESPIONAGE THRILLER

Now that BellBottom shoot has been wrapped, the makers have unveiled the teaser of the film much to the excitement of the fans. Starring Akshay Kumar in the leading role, the 29 seconds long video features the actor donning stylish look. In the teaser, we see him suiting up in style with a heavy moustache, gelled hair and vintage sunglasses. Most of the video has Akshay walking on the runway towards the plane. However, towards the end of BellBottom teaser, we see Akshay the saviour in a brown khaki outfit while hanging on a tanker. Talking about the premise of the film, it read as "Shot in the highlands of Scotland, Pooja Entertainment's Bellbottom has Akshay Kumar in the lead playing a RAW agent on the trail of a mystery and the film's retro theme brings back the eighties."

Bellbottom also stars Vaani Kapoor as the leading lady, along with Huma Qureshi and Lara Dutta Bhupathi. The espionage thriller is penned by Aseem Arrora and Parveez Shaikh, while it's helmed by Ranjit M Tewari. The film is presented by Pooja Entertainment in association with Emmay Entertainment. It is produced by Vashu Bhagnani, Jacky Bhagnani, Deepshikha Deshmukh, Monisha Advani, Madhu Bhojwani and Nikkhil Advani. The first schedule of the film kickstarted in Scotland. Soon after that, the team headed to London for the next schedule. Bellbottom is touted as the world's first film to be shot completely during the coronavirus pandemic. It's slated to release on April 2, 2021.

AFTER IRA KHAN ADMITS TO BEING CLINICALLY DEPRESSED, SUHANA KHAN'S CRYPTIC POST ON 'NERVOUS BREAKDOWN' GOES VIRAL

On Mental Health Day, Aamir Khan's daughter Ira Khan had come in the open and confessed that she is clinically depressed. Ira said that she has been depressed for over four years, and shared a few reactions - most asking who is she to be depressed, because she has everything. Soon after Ira, Suhana's cryptic post about nervous breakdown has been going viral. The post shared by Shah Rukh Khan-Gauri Khan's daughter Suhana only had the word nervous breakdown in it, but people think that there could be more to it than just the word. Suhana simply shared a still from Pedro Almodovar's 1988 film 'Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown' and captioned the image as, 'women on the verge of a nervous breakdown'. This has led to a lot of speculation whether Suhana is also on the verge of a breakdown. Ira had confirmed being depressed in her video by sharing, "Hi, I'm depressed. I have been for more than four years now. I've been to a doctor and I'm clinically depressed. I'm doing much better now. For over a year now, I wanted to do something for mental health, but I wasn't sure what to do." Continuing with the thought of starting a dialogue among her followers, Ira had said, "I have decided to take you on a journey - my journey - and see what happens. Hopefully, we'll get to know ourselves and understand mental illness slightly better. I've thought of so many things to say. What should I say? Why am I doing this?" Ira, who is superstar Aamir Khan's daughter, has access to many things. Addressing the same, she stated, "Let's start from where I started. What do I have to be depressed about? Who am I to be depressed? I have everything, right?," ending her video abruptly.

CANADA MEDIA FUND CELEBRATES 10 YEARS BY SUPPORTING MORE DIVERSITY

If you've ever seen something on a screen made by Canadians, especially if it tells a Canadian story, there's a good chance the Canada Media Fund (CMF) had a hand in its creation. Over the last 10 years, CMF has been a key funder of many popular Canadian shows, web series, videogames and more.

Led by their charismatic and energetic CEO - Valerie Creighton - CMF has supported the growth of Canadian content creators and been a staunch advocate for diversity and inclusion in Canadian media for many years. "Canada's TV shows are some of the most successful in the world because of the enormous talent and diversity of our on and off-screen creators," said Valerie Creighton. "Our continued success depends on fully reflecting and embracing Canada's wealth of diversity. Before coming to Canada, many new Canadians had lives that were much different to the ones they live now. We want to harness the power that such diversity of backgrounds, perspectives and experiences contribute to our storytelling. Supporting creators that work in a multitude of languages is a key part of that effort. We're a better country when all of us--regardless of background or personal circumstances--see ourselves reflected in the stories on our screens."

This industry is vital to the economy, creating 181,000 well-paid full-time jobs and contributing $12.8 billion to the country's GDP in 2019. This year, CMF is celebrating 10 years, by doubling down on efforts to grow new opportunities for people hit hardest by the pandemic, by helping to build a diverse workforce, including Black, racialized, e Indigenous, , and women.

Programs like The Diverse Languages Program which supports productions reflecting Canadian diversity by funding projects in languages other than English, French, or Indigenous languages and COVID-19 emergency relief funding for underrepresented groups have been announced are a few of the ways CMF funds Canadian TV shows in different languages.

'GANGS OF FILMISTAN' PROMO: RUPAL PATEL AKA KOKILABEN AND SUNIL GROVER AKA TOPI BAHU ARE HERE TO CRACK YOU UP

After wrapping Yeh Rishtey Hain Pyaar Ke, Rupal Patel is gearing up to return as Kokila Modi on Saath Nibhaana Saathiya 2. The actor who recently went viral after Kokila rap by Yashraj Mukhate has been making several public appearances lately. She recently visited the sets of Sunil Grover's show Gangs of Filmistaan in her Kokilaben avatar. She was at her entertaining best along with Grover and the promo of the same is proof.

Earlier while talking about being a part of Saath Nibhaana Saathiya 2, Rupal had told a tabloid, "There cannot be Saath Nibhaana Saathiya 2 without its Koki."

Talking about how people love her character as a righteous woman, Patel went on to say, "Of course, I'm a lot more flexible and fun. But even today, young girls tell me that they want a mother-in-law like Koki." Meanwhile, while bidding goodbye to Yeh Rishtey Hain Pyaar Ke, Rupal had said, "Every show is dear to me... Yeh Rishtey Hain Pyaar Ke also holds a special place in my heart. I'm thankful to Star Plus and Producer

Rajan Shahi sir for giving me this opportunity to play Meenakshi Rajvansh. Thanks to my co-stars. Heartiest Gratitude to my dearest Audiences for their Lovely support throughout this adventure. Without you all, it wouldn't have been possible. It was an emotional day, to say the least. Playing this role has been an honour. To everyone in front of the camera, behind the camera, and viewers, thank you for the memories!"

When Krushna Abhishek refused to work on 'The Kapil Sharma Show' because he didn't want to play a woman

The Saturday episode of 'The Kapil Sharma Show' revealed some interesting details - one of which was that Kapil's arch rival Krushna Abhishek did not want to be part of the show. The reason, surprisingly, was not the rivalry but because Krushna did not want to play a woman on the show.

While calling Sumona, who plays his wife Bhoori on the show 'hot', Kapil Sharma also spilled that Krushna did not want to be part of the show as a woman, Sapna Lal Nalasoparia. Kapil then gave it a hilarious twist too, stating that he gave Krushna Archana Puran Singh's example, which convinced the actor to do the show.

Kapil then said that they have Kiku Sharda as the first artist who has gone to jail for doing comedy. Replying to that, Sharda passed a remark on his recent act involving TV anchor Arnab Goswami. Kiku called it another 'revolutionary act'.

Kapil Sharma added dozens of comedy by mimicking characters from the long-running show 'CID'. ACP Pradyuman Singh, of course, was part of the act. He then joked that Archana Puran Singh was a part of 'Aahat'. The comedian further mocked Bharti Singh for bringing her husband Haarsh Limbachiyaa everywhere she goes. Taking it sportingly, Bharti says Haarsh is not talented and so she has to support him. Krushna Abhishek, who is acceptedly a fan of Amitabh Bachchan, dressed up like the megastar. Kiku on the other hand mimicked Sunny Deol, who was called 'Funny Deol'. Kapil himself was dressed up as Navjot Singh Sidhu, the previous judge on the show.

Malaika Arora returns to 'India's Best Dancer' after testing negative for COVID-19; watch how she was welcomed

After staying in quarantine for three weeks, Malaika Arora returned to India's Best Dancer. Her co-judge Terence Lewis has, in fact, dedicated a blog to her to welcome her back on stage with Illa Arun, Geeta Kapur, Bharti Singh and Haarsh Limbachiyaa. Clad in a yellow saree with matching yellow beads necklace, Malaika was seen taking a dig at Terence, stating that he did not miss her on the show, but Geeta Kapur did. He then went on to start his blog where he asks a few words which have to be translated to Hindi. The words this time were related to 'hospital' and 'virus'. Sharing the vlog, Terence wrote, "It's a @malaikaaroraofficial special cause our lady is back after 3 weeks of quarantine, so this week's vlog is related to that ! And our Guest n my favourite folk artist ILA ARUNJI won it hands down ! Here is a vlogeshwari question for you... what is pandemic in hindi called? Comment below ! Googling or reading other's comments is allowed!"

Malaika was tested positive for COVID-19 soon after Bollywood actor Arjun Kapoor announced that he too had tested positive for the novel virus. He had promised to donate his antigen after he recovers, in order to save lives.

‘HE HASN’T BEEN THE SAME BOWLER FOR FEW YEARS NOW,’ KEVIN PIETERSEN’S HUGE STATEMENT REGARDING KKR BOWLER

Former England captain Kevin Pietersen has not shied away from his statements regarding some of the big players in Indian Premier League 2020 and his latest remark promises to continue the trend. On Monday, as Kolkata Knight Riders suffered an 82-run loss to Royal Challengers Bangalore, many fans felt the absence of spinner Sunil Narine, who was left out of the Playing XI.

Narine was reported for a suspect illegal bowling action, and even though he could continue to bowl, KKR opted to go without him due to a certain condition. Rules state that if Narine was reported once more, he would be suspended from bowling further in the tournament until cleared. Pietersen however, feels the hype surrounding Narine has faded and that his absence would no longer be a major factor for the team. “If I am honest, I am not so sure it (Sunil Narine absence) is a massive loss. Andre Russell is the guy you spend time talking about in team meetings. When he bowls, you are thinking about it. When he bats, you are thinking about it. It is same when he is fielding,” Pietersen said on Star Sports.

Narine has been an integral part of KKR since he came to the franchise in 2012. In fact, in the previous two matches, Narine won KKR close matches by denying the batsmen to score runs in the last overs. But despite that, Pietersen reckons that Narine’s skills have been on the wane and that he is no longer the player he once was.

“Sunil Narine has not been the same bowler for a few years now. He hasn’t had his best; he hasn’t had his real big spin. Coming to Sharjah, it is not something you are really worried about Sunil Narine. And then the bowlers have found him out in his batting. You bowl him short, he doesn’t like it,” Pietersen said. “He is a tailender who bats at the top of the innings. I don’t really like him at the top of the order as a batsman. He comes off with 1 off 10, and that’s not good for the team and the team dynamics. As a spin bowler, he has not spun it properly for 2-3 years.”

Virat Kohli, AB de Villiers achieve unique record of centuries following RCB vs KKR clash in IPL 2020

Virat Kohli and AB de Villiers came together when Royal Challengers Bangalore were 94/2 in the 13th over of the IPL 2020 clash against Kolkata Knight Riders at the Sharjah Cricket Stadium. On a sluggish wicket, Virat Kohli and the rest of the batting found it difficult to score runs but AB de Villiers was in a different league altogether. The South African right-handed batsman smashed five fours and six sixes in his knock of 73 off 33 balls as Royal Challengers Bangalore smashed 83 runs in the last five overs, including 29 in the last two. AB de Villiers and Virat Kohli stitched a partnership of 100 in 46 balls as Royal Challengers Bangalore reached 194/2. Navdeep Saini, Yuzvendra Chahal and Chris Morris bowled brilliantly as Royal Challengers Bangalore notched up a big 82-run win to surge to the third spot in IPL 2020 points table. However, during the course of Royal Challengers Bangalore’s innings, Virat Kohli and AB de Villiers created history as they created a unique record. Virat Kohli and AB de Villiers became the first duo to stitch 10 partnerships of over 100 in the history of the Indian Premier League. This broke the previous record of nine which was also set by Virat Kohli when he partnered Chris Gayle for Royal Challengers Bangalore. Virat Kohli occupies the top two spots when it comes to the number of 100-plus partnerships stitched in the IPL. Another statistical milestone achieved in the match was that the partnership between Virat Kohli and AB de Villiers also went past 3000 runs in IPL.

ISHANT SHARMA RULED OUT OF IPL 2020 FOR DELHI CAPITALS

Ishant Sharma experienced an acute episode of left rib cage pain while bowling at a team training session on October 7, the Indian fast bowler has now been ruled out by the Delhi Capitals for the rest of the IPL 2020 season.

After a subsequent investigation, the DC medical team found out that Sharma had sustained a left internal oblique muscle tear. Due to this injury, the 32-year-old has been ruled him out of the remainder of the Dream11 Indian Premier League 2020. Delhi Capitals confirmed the development in an official statement as well on Monday (October 12). Delhi had already lost Amit Mishra through a finger injury for this IPL season as well. DC suffered a 5-wicket loss against Mumbai Indians on Sunday (October 11).

Batting first, Shreyas Iyer’s side posted a target score of 163. On the chase, Mumbai got off to a sluggish start as they lost Rohit Sharma early on who departed after scoring just 5 runs. Quinton de Kock and Suryakumar Yadav then formed a formidable partnership for MI as the two kept the scoreboard ticking at a decent pace.

De Kock played some excellent shots and bagged a 33-ball fifty before R Ashwin struck for the Capitals and dismissed the wicketkeeper-batsman for 53. Yadav and Ishan Kishan had a brief stand for the third wicket but kept the asking rate under control. Suryakumar was net to bag his half-century but his celebration did not last long for the Indian batsman as Kagiso Rabada dismissed him in the very next delivery. The South African pacer was in terrific form on the night as he dismissed Kishan (28) in his last over of the game.

JOFRA ARCHER'S OLD TWEETS GO VIRAL AFTER MUMBAI SUFFERS MAJOR POWER OUTAGE

England and Rajasthan Royals (RR) pacer Jofra Archer is widely renowned for having a tweet for every moment of life. A few of his old tweets have gone viral once again after several areas in Mumbai suffered a major blackout on Monday (October 12) due to a sudden power failure. The massive power outage affected daily life in the financial capital of India. Tata power through its Twitter handled, said that simultaneous substation tripping in MSETCL's Kalwa, Kharghar causing a huge dip in frequency in the Mumbai transmission system which led to the tripping of the Mumbai power supply. "Mumbai gone," from September 2014 is one of the first ones which received a lot of attention on social media as fans on Twitter linked it to the 'power gone' references. The second one is, "Lights out", from March 2013 is the second one that got the most engagement on the microblogging platform with the third and final one being "Mumbai deserve it". Juhu, Andheri, Mira Road, Navi Mumbai, Thane and Panvel were the worst affected areas due to power cut. Local train services, which are only operating for essential workers currently, were also affected. "In view of interruption in Traction power at 10.05 hrs due to Grid failure of Tata Power company, services btwn Churchgate & Borivili are suspended. It shall be resumed as soon as traction power supply is restored. Commuters are requested to cooperate. However, Power supply, from MSETCL available at Vasai Road & it has been extended to work essential suburban trains between Borivali to Virar section. Efforts are on to start services in Churchgate- Borivali section. Commuters are requested not to panic & maintain social distancing," a statement from Western Railways said. Adani Electricity said that Adani Electricity Mumbai Limited (AEML) is supplying around 385MW to critical services through AEML Dahanu. "Our teams are working to restore the supply in the affected areas at the earliest. We regret the inconvenience caused," it tweeted. "Power cut across Mumbai, Navi Mumbai and Thane. There is multiple tripping of lines and transformer (Kalwa-padghe and Khargar ICTs) supplying power to Mumbai system . 360 MW supply in Mumbai and suburbs affected. Restoration under process," Maharashtra minister Dr Jitendra Awhad tweeted. Efforts were on to restore the supply at the earliest, said an official from the Energy Department.

‘BARRING ONE SUPERHUMAN, WE ALL STRUGGLED,’ VIRAT KOHLI LAUDS AB DE VILLIERS’ SPECIAL KNOCK IN SHARJAH

Royal Challengers Bangalore captain Virat Kohli was mighty pleased with his team following its 82-run win over Kolkata Knight Riders in Sharjah on Monday. Kohli, who led RCB to their fifth win of the season, looked back at the outcome with pride, saying beating a side like KKR, who'd been on a bit of a hot run, comes as the perfect tonic and a confidence-booster for his team. "It is a tremendous win against a very strong side. Heading into a busy week for us, it was important to start off well. The bowling unit looks that much more potent with Chris Morris coming back. We were very happy with the total. This pitch was drier. And the day was pleasant so we thought there would be no dew," Kohli said after the match. Kohli once again sang praises for his teammate AB de Villiers, who starred with the bat, hitting an unbeaten 73 off just 33 balls with five fours and six sixes. Crediting de Villiers for his knock, Kohli reckoned that had it not been for the former South Africa captain's breezy innings, RCB wouldn't have been able to post a healthy total of 194 batting first. "Barring one superhuman, every batsman struggled on the pitch. The talk was around getting 165, but we got 195 you know exactly why. It was unbelievable. I thought I had a few balls under my belt, and I might start striking. He just came in and struck the third ball, and said he felt good," Kohli said.

WHY IS RASHID KHAN'S MARRIAGE LINKED TO WORLD CUP? THIS IS THE ANSWER

Rashid Khan has been in the news recently because of Anushka Sharma. The reason – A Google search on Rashid Khan's wife threw up the result of Anushka Sharma, who is the wife of India cricket team skipper Virat Kohli. The ensuing Google search bug made massive news around Rashid Khan, with many finding it hilarious. However, the topic of Rashid Khan's marriage also cropped up. Many were searching to find out whether Rashid Khan is indeed married or not. However, the 22-year-old has clarified that he is not married and he is not even intending to marry in the near future! The reason – It is a story of greater glory for a nation that has been plagued by wars and depression. In an interview a couple of months back, Rashid Khan told in an interview to Azad Radio that he will not think about marriage until Afghanistan has not won the ICC Cricket World Cup. Afghanistan has been a regular in the ICC World Cup events since 2010 with the ICC World T20 in the West Indies. Afghanistan made their debut in the ODI World Cup in 2015 held in Australia and New Zealand and they created history when they won their first match against Scotland in Dunedin by one wicket. However, in the ICC Cricket World Cup 2019, Afghanistan did not win a single game although they came close to beating India and Pakistan. In the World T20s, they have had more success and their key moment of glory came when they beat eventual champions West Indies in the ICC World T20 clash in Nagpur.

IPL 2020 Sunrisers Hyderabad vs Chennai Super Kings - Head-to-head and past records

IPL 2020 has completed the half-way stage of the tournament with all the teams having played seven matches apiece. As the tournament now shifts into the business end, it is time for many teams to stake a claim in the race for the playoffs. Chennai Super Kings, who are currently in the seventh position and are desperately in need of a revival, will be looking to string together a series of consecutive wins as they look to stay alive in the race for the play-offs. Chennai Super Kings have only four points from seven games and they will be looking to win at least six out of the next seven games in order to be in the mix for the play-offs. On the other hand, Sunrisers Hyderabad's momentum was stalled after suffering a loss to Rajasthan Royals in the double-header on Sunday. With that loss, they are currently in the fifth position and will need to be careful in avoiding any further loss that could dent their loss in momentum. In the previous encounter between the two sides in IPL 2020, Sunrisers Hyderabad defeated Chennai Super Kings by seven runs.
